Pinchot Ready to Give Strike Edict

WILL URGE FACTIONS TO ACT

Governor Announces Final Session Will Be Open to Public

BRIEF OUTLINE OF PROPOSAL IS TOLD

Seizure and Operation of Mines By State May Follow Strike

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29.—The definite proposal of Governor Pinchot for settlement of the threatened anthracite coal strike will be submitted to the miners and operators at 6 p. m. tonight in a joint conference.

This announcement was made from the executive chamber today. It will be a definite proposal which should be accepted or rejected by the opposing parties.

The meeting will be open to the public just as was the first conference.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, arrived here this morning and immediately went into conference with Philip Murray, temporary head of the mine delegates.

Lewis came from Philadelphia, where he has established "strike headquarters."

The Pinchot plan embodies a demand for concessions from both parties, it is learned.

While there is no authoritative indication of its contents, the United Press is informed reliably that the following methods were favored recently by the governor:

1—Establishment of a half way check off, one that will protect the operators against recognition of the union by its phraseology and yet enable the union to collect the dues of the miners in the mines on pay day.

2—A wage increase for the miners, perhaps as high as 10 per cent.

3—Establishment of the eight-hour day.

If these three steps are unacceptable to either of the parties the governor has been advised to ask them to declare a thirty day truce and maintain mining operations while new efforts are made to thresh out the difficulties.

It is learned also that Pinchot has been informed how he can practically seize and operate the mines. A close adviser of the governor has presented to him a scheme which would enable him to carry out his threat that the "mines can and must be maintained."

Noted Berlin Street Is Market for Dogs

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Under den Linden has become one of the world's greatest dog markets. Enterprising former soldiers and other Germans who have police dogs to offer go to the heart of the tourist section of the city and parade their wares before the hotels and other centers thronged by foreigners whose money stands high in relation to the declining marks.

While all the great police dogs of the wolf strain are muzzled and held on leash according to the municipal regulations, it does not prevent them from trying to fight. A police dog can fight more with a muzzle on than most other dogs can without one.

Crowds Cheer Giant Bombing Plane When First Trip Success

MEXICO-TO-CANADA FLIGHT AIM

The Barling Bomber, tried out at Dayton, Ohio, has thus far proved successful. Immediately following its first flight, it was surrounded by a crowd of aviation enthusiasts in which civilians were more numerous than army folk. Photo shows the huge plane after landing.

NEW YORK POLICE FEAR WARFARE AS GANG HEAD SLAIN

(By United Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Leaders of New York's gangs were placed under police surveillance today in an effort to avert resumption of gang warfare on a large scale, following the murder of "Kid" Dropper in front of Essex Market court yesterday.

The shooting of Dropper came after a series of minor clashes, extending over a month and involving the notorious "Hudson Dusters" as well as the "Dropper Cowboy" gangs.

Gunned of both sides are out for vengeance.

Dropper's real name was Nathan Kaplan. He gained his underworld title through his ability to always drop the other man first. In the beginning he was known as "Jack the Dropper."

Former Wall St. Clerk. He started life as a clerk in Wall Street and soon surrounded himself with his gang—"Dropper's boys."

They were for hire. Persons with grudges, to settle could employ them to commit murder. In due time they became bandits and burglars.

Naturally this gang clashed with the older organization of the "Hudson dusters," and their members frequently engaged in shooting affrays with each other.

Ouis Cohen, the undersized laundry worker who killed the Dropper by firing through the rear window of a taxicab in which his victim sat with a police guard, declared he shot merely to satisfy a personal grievance. But it is an unwritten law of the underworld that the truth must never be told to the police. If Cohen were an agent of the "Hudson dusters" or any other gang, he would not admit it.

Gang on War Path. "Dropper's cowboys" are now on the war path. They will seek to obtain revenge for their leader's death by shooting up Cohen's associates. At the same time there is danger of the "Cowboys" themselves splitting up into several rival organizations in the struggle to see who will succeed the Dropper as gang leader. The police have information that at least twenty-five armed men were waiting to kill the Dropper when he emerged from Essex Market Court yesterday. This gives an indication of the scale on which gangsters' operations are conducted.

During the present month the following men have been targets for gunmen's bullets, as the gunmen's feud grew more intense:

Sam Weiss, shot in the cheek after a running duel, Aug. 1.

"Midgit Louie," shot and killed at his home, supposedly by a member of the Dropper gang, Aug. 9.

Henry Moore, otherwise known as Jocko, a member of the Hudson Dusters, shot and killed in Astoria, Aug. 8.

Solomon Shapiro, shot and severely wounded by an alleged member of the Droppers, Aug. 23.

Killed on Street.

Moe Schwartz, killed by a volley of shots while strolling on the

TANKER SPEEDS TO SAN PEDRO AFTER CRASH

(By United Press Leased Wire) SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Struthers and Barry, Inc., operators of the United States Shipping Board tanker Hoven, which struck an uncharted rock off San Benito Island, coast of Lower California, shortly after midnight, said at 10:30 that they had no further word from the vessel since her messages, sent about 1:30 a. m. that she was headed toward San Pedro, leaking badly.

Because of the lack of information, officials were inclined to believe that the vessel is still in no danger and able to make headway toward port.

The vessel, which carries a crew of 55 men, cleared from San Pedro Monday for New York with 70,000 barrels of oil.

The S. O. S. sent out by the Hoven was picked up by the Radio Corporation of America and broadcast to vessels in those waters. Three steamers, the Caldas, to the north, and the Antietam and the Pomona to the south, reported that they had altered their courses to bring them to the aid of the stricken vessel.

San Benito Island is about 250 miles south of San Pedro. The Pomona should reach the Hoven sometime during the forenoon and the Caldas about noon, their positions showed.

Booze Case Suspect Dodges Jail Term as Police Use Wrong Word

Purveyors of illicit intoxicants may be called bootleggers in street parlance but they can't be jailed under that title, for the law says, in effect, that there's "no such animal," it was shown here today following the release of Joseph L. De Castello, scion of a prominent Los Angeles family, upon a writ of habeas corpus.

When Newport Beach authorities sent De Castello to the county jail last Saturday for a term of ninety days, with a $300 fine attached, they referred to him in plain, understandable English and everybody in a Newport Beach knew what he was going to jail for. But lawyers

Eureka Building Total
For July Is $104,700

EUREKA, Aug. 29.—Building permits issued in Eureka for the month of July totaled $104,700, according to the computations of the building inspector. This marks one of the record months of the year and also indicates that before the year has closed permits will have totaled more than a million dollars. Many new business blocks are being erected, and others are in contemplation.

Colo. River To Be Surveyed
By Experts

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The problem of developing the waters of the Colorado river for irrigation and power and to lessen danger from floods in Imperial valley, is arousing great general interest. The first thing needed in connection with any such development is a survey, but a 300-mile stretch of this 1500-mile river, including the ruggedest part of the Grand canyon, has not yet been surveyed in any detail. The surveying and mapping of this stretch, which includes the dangerous gorges of the Marble and Grand canyons, were started August 1, it was announced at the department of the interior office here today.

This part of the river's course, which is crowded with bad rapids that swirl between steep rock banks, has been traversed on only six previous occasions. It was first explored in 1869, by Major John W. Powell, later director of the geological survey. The present party of engineers and geologists of the geological survey made the trip by boat from Lees Ferry through the canyons to the mouth of the Virgin river, in Arizona, a distance of about 300 miles, to make records of the slope of this entire stretch of the river and of the topography.

The Colorado, one of the great rivers of the country, is often called the Nile of America. It drains nearly 250,000 square miles, an area equal to that of the Atlantic coast states, from Maine to Georgia. The highest points in its basin are the peaks of the Continental divide, which stand more than 14,000 feet above sea level, and a part of its water finds its way into Salton sea, in Southern California, which lies more than 250 feet below sea level.

Take Radio Equipment
Stretches aggregating about 1200 miles on the Colorado and its principal fork, Green river, and several hundred miles on other tributaries have already been surveyed and mapped by the geological survey. These stretches, together with the 200-mile stretch to be surveyed this year, extend continuously from the town of Green River, Wyo., on Green river, and from Grand Junction, Colo., on Colorado river, to the Mexican boundary.

The results of these surveys are shown on a continuous river map in sheets of convenient size, generally on a scale of two inches to the mile.

Detailed examinations are to be made of possible dam sites, which will be considered from both the engineer's and the geologist's point of view. Four boats of special type have been constructed to stand the rack and strain of the work in the canyons, and each member of the party will be equipped with life preservers. The boats will be manned by skilled boatmen, all of whom have had experience in the rapids of the Colorado. The rapids in this 300-mile stretch form some of the wildest water in the United States, and the members of the party are prepared for thrilling experiences. Every precaution has been taken for their safety and for the protection of the surveying and photographic apparatus.

Part of the outfit includes a special radio receiving equipment, and arrangements have been made to broadcast items of interest to the party, which in turn will send out bulletins by courier at the trail crossings. The radio outfit consists of a standard regenerative receiver with two steps of amplification, modified in the instrument shop of the geological survey to meet conditions which may be expected in the canyon. The antenna wire, 150 feet in length, is carried by the party on a small reel to facilitate winding on moving camp. Considerable static trouble is expected, owing to the frequent thunderstorms in August and September, but the party nevertheless expects to be able to receive most of the messages. As a matter of fact word was received that the party at Lees Ferry, late in July, before the expedition started down the canyon, was at 9 p. m., to hear radiophone messages from Los Angeles, a distance of 430 miles.

Explored By Missionary
The real test, however, will come when the party is in the canyon, for at some places the depth below the rim is more than a mile. This is particularly true at El Tovar, the principal tourist point of the canyon. From here Los Angeles is 390 miles distant by air line.

Mother of 21 Takes Her Fourth Husband
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Lizzie Ricketts, aged 50, who is the mother of twenty-one children, was married for the fourth time recently.

Mrs. Ricketts' last husband is Charles Henry of Scranton. Her first two husbands died, and she divorced the third one.

The party will consist of ten men—C. H. Birdseye, chief topographic engineer of the geological survey, in charge; E. C. La Rue, hydraulic engineer; R. C. Moore, geologist, and R. W. Burchard, topographer, all of the geological survey; and E. C. Koib, head boatman; Lewis R. Freeman, Leigh Lint, and H. E. Blake Jr., boatmen; F. B. Dodge, rodman, and Frank Work, cook.

The Grand canyon section of the Colorado was first crossed in 1776 by Father Escalante, a Spanish missionary. Little development took place in the basin, however, until it became a part of the United States, near the middle of the last century. Prior to the Civil war the 300 miles up from the mouth of the river to the Needles had been explored, and a few small steamers plied a somewhat uncertain trade on these lower reaches. In 1869 Major Powell made his trip of exploration by boat through

Watch Stolen From Tustin Barber Shop

Theft of a gold watch from the G. E. Helt barber shop at Tustin was reported today to the sheriff's office here. Suspicion was said to have been directed to two boys who were seen in the shop shortly before the loss of the watch was discovered.

CITY MOVES TO COMPEL PAVING
ON EAST 4TH

W. G. Knox, street superintendent, today was making preparations for legal posting of the district created for the repaving of two lots on East Fourth street, following adoption by the city council Monday night of a resolution of intention to force repaving in front of the property of Frank Thomson, 902 East Fourth street, and a lot on the opposite side of the street, referred to locally as the Compton property.

Forcing of the owners of the lots to pave has been under consideration by the city council for more than two years, and the first definite step to effect the improvement was taken by the city body, Monday evening.

Thomson refused to have the work done in front of his place when the street was repaved more than two years ago. The work was done under private contract and not by street proceedings, hence the council was powerless to force the improvement at the time the other work was in progress.

Thomson has maintained that when the original pavement was laid on the street, the council entered into an agreement with the property owners to maintain the street in the future. City officials have been unable to find a record of the purported agreement.

It was intimated in certain quarters today that effort may be made to have the ordinance modified before its final adoption.

Olive Crop Favorable
In San Andres Region

SAN ANDRES, Aug. 29.—The Rocca Bella olive orchard is reported to have a record crop of olives this year. The olives are being cured and made ready for the market by A. Sarmmis, the owner of the grove. According to reports of the growers, the olive crop throughout the district will be excellent this year.

Beautiful Napa Home Destroyed by Flames

In proportion to its size, Cairo, Egypt, has more newspapers than any other city in the world.

THIRD CHAPTER TO OPOSSUM STORY SAD

This is the third installment of the opossum story.

It began with the discovery by Dr. John McAuley of a mother and five young opossums in the basement of his home. The second installment came with the discovery by Earl Lentz, night desk sergeant at the police station, of a male opossum in the city hall.

Lentz made preparations to fatten the animal for eating purposes, but it "did him dirt" by disappearing, after absorbing several large meals.

Now comes the third installment. G. A. Schweiger, manager of St. Ann's Inn, captured a male opossum last night on the rear entrance stairway of the hotel. Tibbits, the gardener, quickly placed the animal in safe captivity. Seemingly he has taken up the work where Lentz involuntarily left off.

The animal was discovered by the hotel manager late last night. It was sitting at the top of the stairway apparently waiting to be invited into the hotel.

Schweiger dispatched his clerk with a sink plunger. A blow on the back of the head with the rubber instrument stunned the animal.

True to its name, the animal played "possum." But at that, with Tibbits watchfully waiting for fat to gather on furry ribs, it looks like "finis" is about to be written to the opossum story.

Fresno Woman Park
Commissioner Quits

FRESNO, Aug. 29.—Mrs. Frank H. Short, member of the Fresno park commission, handed in her resignation to Mayor Truman G. Hart, giving as her reason absence from the city. The mayor accepted the resignation. The withdrawal of Mrs. Short from the commission marks the second to come within a few days, as George C. Roeding resigned a few days ago. Both positions lack appointees, though Mayor Hart said that several names had been mentioned to him as suggestions to fill Roeding's position.

5 Youths Recovering From Explosion Burns

Five Filipino youths of Anaheim who were in the county hospital here today suffering from burns, sustained when a gas stove exploded in the apartment in which they were living, were reported "doing nicely." At first it was thought two of the youths, whose ages range from 20 to 25, were in a dangerous condition.

EXPECTS MORE
JUNIOR HIGH

That the registration of the junior high school of Santa Ana might run over 1,000 when school opens September 11, was indicated today by P. G. Nelson.

Nelson was principal of the junior high school last year, when all of the pupils of junior high school classes, the seventh, eighth and ninth, attended the building on North Main street, between Ninth and Tenth streets.

The coming year, Nelson will be principal of the Julia Lathrop school, on South Main, the junior high school having been divided into two schools.

"When school closed at the beginning of this summer," said Nelson, "we had an enrollment of 870. The highest enrollment last year was 20 per cent greater than the highest enrollment of the year previous. If we have a similar increase the coming year, the enrollment will go well beyond 1,000."

Nelson said that while he expects a big increase on opening day, no estimate as to what the increase may be can be given until after September 6.

Explains Registration

"September 6," he said, "has been set as the day for registering all new students. Any student who has not been registered in the junior high school should report at the Frances Willard school, on North Main, Thursday, September 6 for registration. All pupils who were in the junior high school last year need not report. Those who were in the sixth grade and were registered in the junior high school at the close of school also need not report. Every student who was in a Santa Ana sixth grade last year and who was not registered should register September 6. Every newcomer of whatever grade—seventh, eighth or ninth—should register on that day."

Nelson pointed out that the plan is to have all junior high school work carried on at the Frances Willard school, on North Main, until the new Julia Lathrop school is finished.

Two Teaching Staffs

"We hope to have the new South Main schoolhouse finished by January 1," he said. "Our plan now is to have all sessions of the junior high school starting in September at the old buildings on North Main, now called the Frances Willard school. All children living south of the center line, between Second and Third streets, are to attend as with the Julia Lathrop school. All living north of that line will be with the Frances Willard school."

"Those living north of the alley line between Second and Third streets will start school at 7:45 o'clock in the morning and we expect to dismiss them at 12:15. Those living south of the line will start school at 12:30 o'clock and will be out about 5 o'clock. Each school will be conducted entirely separately, with a separate principal and separate corps of teachers."

HARDING MEMORIAL STAMP IS DUE SOON

The post office department is about to issue a special 2-cent postage stamp printed in black type, bearing the portrait of the late President Harding, to be known as the Harding Memorial stamp. Postmaster C. D. Overshiner announced here today. These stamps will be issued for a limited period, and will not be available at the local post office before the middle of September or thereabouts, he added. The memorial stamp is described by the department bulletins as follows:

"It is the same shape and size as the current 2-cent stamp and bears the portrait of Warren G. Harding within an oval and partly inclosed in a panel, which is supported on either side by acanthus scrolls. Above the portrait within a curved panel appears the words 'United States postage' in white roman capital letters. On a ribbon below the oval is the name 'Harding' and under this, at the bottom of the stamp, appears the word 'Cents.' In both lower corners within ovals, with dark backgrounds, is the white numeral '2.' In the upper left-hand corner appears the year of birth '1865,' and in the upper right-hand corner the year of death, '1923.' The entire stamp is inclosed within a plain black border."

Tulare County Orange Prospects Looking Up

LINDSAY, Aug. 29.—There is every indication of an exceptionally large orange crop in Tulare county. So far there has been little "June drop." Olives also promise a bumper crop. Table grapes are virtually untouched by mildew, the fruit sizing up rapidly and Emperors should move about October 1. Except for a small percentage of apricots, which were dried, the crop was a total loss.

SILVA WHIPS GRANDETTA

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Teddy Silva decisively whipped Frankie Grande, 110 pound Portland boxer, in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium last night.

TWO ARE HURT IN CRASH ON WEST FIFTH

Hobart Miller, Newhope youth received severe cuts on his hands and bruises on his forehead and Manuel Flores, residing west of Santa Ana, was shaken up in a collision at the intersection of West Fifth street and Newhope avenue today.

A light touring car driven by Miller, who was traveling west on Fifth street, collided with Flores' horse and buggy as Flores attempted to turn north on Newhope off of Fifth.

The buggy was wrecked and Flores was thrown high in the air, injuring his left shoulder when he came down. The buggy was wrecked and the automobile also damaged. Flores' horse received a broken leg and Constable J. L. Elliott was forced to shoot the animal later.

Unnamed and unsung, the official organ of the Santa Ana Lions Den today made its initial bow to the membership of the club. It will be published weekly, with Cal E. Prior as editor, and "Stew" Stewart, art of the Santa Ana Printing company, as publisher.

The first issue of the new "Journal" is replete with interesting news for Lions and witticisms directed at members of the club. "Editor" Prior makes a strong appeal to members to submit suggestions as to the name that should be "hitched" to the weekly.

The first page of the four-page sheet contains the "president's message," by Harry L. Hanson, president. In the closing paragraph, the president says: "Individual success, and community advancement and improvement do not happen, but are the result of ideals set up and earnestly, systematically and untiringly striven for until accomplished, and then in order to avoid collapse must be fought for and supported by new and further endeavors. The Santa Ana Lions Club has so far done this, but this is not enough; we must go on."

Wayne Goble will preside during the program hour at Thursday's meeting of the club at St. Ann's Inn, the publication reveals. An address by Burton L. Smith, state editor of a Los Angeles morning paper, and piano selections by Miss Arline Birchard, of Santa Ana, are included in the program.

Radio Supplies at Hawley's*Fresnan Promoted To S. F. Position

FRESNO, Aug. 29.—Arthur S. Jones, manager of the local division of the Associated Pine Line company, was expected to leave for San Francisco, to take up his duties as general superintendent succeeding the late Edward S. Partridge, who died in Fresno on July 14. G. H. Snyder, division manager at Coalinga, has been promoted to the Fresno position. Partridge, before his promotion to the San Francisco position, had been the manager of the Fresno division. He died while on a business trip here, an operation for appendicitis proving fatal.

This series of lessons on milk cooking has been appearing weekly. Mrs. Blake's counsel will be helpful and stimulating, because of her practical experience in home cooking. She will answer any questions on cooking asked by her readers. Address Mrs. Mary Blake, care Carnation Milk Products Co., Stuart Building, Seattle, Washington.

Lesson No. 2*Ices and Cold Drinks

IN the summer the busy house-wife will find Carnation Milk an "ever-present help," as its richness and purity adapt it especially for many delicious drinks and dainty ices.

The ease and economy with which these can be prepared permit their frequent use and they are wholesome and nourishing as well as refreshing.

An ice which is always popular is sherbet. Made with Carnation Milk your sherbets will be richer and of a finer flavor than the ordinary "water ices."

Milk Sherbet

1 1/4 cupfuls water, 1 1/4 cupfuls Carnation Milk, 1/4 cupful sugar, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 egg white.

Add the sugar to the milk, diluted with water and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice gradually to the mixture and stir thoroughly and freeze at once to prevent curdling of the milk. When half frozen add the stiffly beaten white of one egg. Use three parts ice and one part salt in freezing. This recipe will make one quart, enough to serve six people.

Grape Sherbet

1 cup sugar, 2 cups water, 1 pint grape juice, juice of 2 lemons, whipped Carnation Milk.

Boil sugar and water for 10 minutes. Add grape juice and lemon juice. Strain and freeze in 3 parts ice and 1 part salt. On each serving put a spoonful of whipped Carnation Milk to which lemon flavoring has been added. This recipe serves twelve people.

For a delightful frozen dessert of still higher nutritive value, serve

Frozen Custard

1/2 cupful sugar, 1 1/4 cupfuls water, 1 1/4 cupfuls Carnation Milk, 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald the milk, diluted with water. Beat the eggs slightly; add sugar and salt. Add the scalded liquid and stir constantly. Put in double boiler and stir until the mixture thickens and a coating is formed on spoon. Cool, add flavoring and freeze. This recipe makes one quart, enough to serve six people.

(Clip and paste this lesson in your cook book. If you have missed any previous lesson, I will be glad to send it to you on request.)

Happy Exchange Gives Mountains and Sea
To Vacationers

A happy plan whereby each family may taste the joys of both mountain and beach outings, has been put into effect by the H. H. Dale and the C. F. Hell families.

The H. H. Dale cottage at East Newport is noted as being the center of many gayeties and is a cozily appointed little place where surf and bay swimming and all manner of beach sports may be enjoyed.

The Dells on the contrary, located their little house of dreams amid the towering pines at Big Bear where all the varied attractions of that most favored mountain resort may be enjoyed. But the great waves of green pines breaking on the slopes of the San Bernardino range, recall to them the joys of splashing in real waters while to the Dales, the foaming crests of the breakers at Newport recall the frozen spray of the ice fields visible from certain points in the mountains.

And each family has a taste of longing for the other charmed spot. Therefore, the following news brief:

Tomorrow H. H. Dale and his family leave for Big Bear, where they will occupy the C. F. Hell cabin. During their absence, the Hell family will occupy the Dale cottage at East Newport.

Amona and Agoga Camp Gives Happy Outing

"Amona and Agoga camp" was chosen as the name of the mountain fastness where a group of young B. Y. P. U. members of Garden Grove recently established a Thursday to Sunday camp with the Rev. Herman J. Powell of this city as one of the leaders and principal speakers.

J. G. Allen and Mrs. G. L. Beard of Garden Grove were named as camp executives. Speakers with the Rev. Mr. F. H. Ellwood were Miss Minnie Trout and the Rev. S. W. Gage.

A formal daily program was closely adhered to from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., when "taps" were sounded and lights out! was the order. Song-fests, campfire talks and one memorable program of stunts varied the hours at camp, while hikes were an enjoyable feature. On Sunday the usual order of services for the day was observed.

Camp officials included in addition to the executives, Miss Jewel Crowley, registrar; Everett Emerson, transportation; Horace Henshaw, facility manager; Miss Weisser, commissioner; Robert Lenhardt, manager, and Clarence Smith, assistant manager.

An interesting assemblage of guests who on Monday gathered at the armory to witness the exemplification of floor work as presented by Sedgwick Corps of this city, were today recalling the pleasing compliments paid Mrs. Clara Wedgewood, president, upon the executive ability displayed in arranging for the meeting.

For her appreciation of the work, Mrs. Alpha G. Daul, department president, was lavish in her praise of Mrs. Wedgewood's efforts as was Mrs. Ella M. French, department inspector. The ceremony was enjoyed by a large crowd of local corps members augmented by representatives of twelve other corps including Long Beach which sent a delegation of twenty-five members.

The two distinguished guests, Mrs. Daul and Mrs. French were presented with handsome plates in gold-decorated china by the president on behalf of the Sedgwick corps and each responded with a charming appreciation of the gift and the courtesy which prompted it.

Another interesting speaker was Comrade Milner of Long Beach, department commander. Various members of Mrs. Daul's staff (which accompanied her) were also among the speakers.

The ceremony had a beautiful floral setting with all varieties of garden flowers used in profusion. Mrs. Estelle Ludwig presided at the piano for the afternoon. In every way the affair was a success with the intricate ceremony moving along without a single mistake to mar it.

Kills Jamaica Shark After Long Struggle

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A 300-pound shark was caught in Jamaica Bay near lower Fishkill by George Groth of that place. For some time fishermen have suspected the presence of sharks in the vicinity and Groth set out to determine the truth.

As bait he used weakfish on a hook fastened by a chain to a line of sash cord. Presently a shark took the bait. Then ensued a contest of three-quarters of an hour between fisherman and fish. At the end of that time the exhausted shark was pulled alongside the launch, shot and stabbed.

The Register reaches the far corners of the county.

August Wedding Grist
Keeps Cupid's Mill
A Busy One

A close relation between vacations and honeymoons noticeable in the city, might also be called relationship by marriage considering the local licenses to wed which are taken out daily.

For the August grist to the mill of young Dan Cupid, is a large one and one of which ministers of the city get a fair toll since Santa Ana is considered Gretna Green by Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino and even farther-away Santa Barbara, Ventura and San Diego and neighboring cities.

The past week or so has seen many local brides who preferred to retain their marriage rites as their own sweet secret and not to be related to the public. Occasionally either bride or groom comes from some other section such as in the case of Herschel E. Beard of this city who won pretty Otelia Nyquist of Topeka, Kansas, as his wife or Albert L. Doris who motored over from his Long Beach home long enough to claim Miss Dorothy Lucile Chesley, daughter of Mrs. Mary Chesley, 911½ East First street. Previous to her marriage, Miss Chesley had been employed by the Harper Brothers Commercial company.

Other out-of-the-city men to claim Santa Ana brides were Ray I. Johnson of Huntington Beach, who recently wedded Dolly De Loris Olsen of this city and his fellow-townsmen, Edward Crispie whose marriage to Miss Edith Bruner was an event of August.

On the contrary, Joe Martin, Santa Ana, went to Paularion to claim his bride, Miss Patricia Gallie.

Santa Ana couples recently licensed to wed have included Gene G. Gaston and Miss Doris Cook, an attractive eighteen-year-old girl; John Luther Berry and Miss Avis De Vore of 505 South Broadway and a bookkeeper in the city; Marion L. Morse and Miss Ruth A. Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Baldwin, 409 East Fifth street; Edward E. Kiems of 1604 West First street.

Will Apply Methods Studied In Summer

With the coming of September, Daisy Austin Marsden (Mrs. Samuel A. Marsden) of 122 West Eighteenth street will resume her classes in piano and expression after her summer's absence in Chicago and the east.

Dr. and Mrs. Marsden returned early in the week, coming directly from New York City where Mrs. Marsden visited with friends and relatives and the doctor took post-graduate work in his profession.

Previous to joining him, Mrs. Marsden took intensive work in piano methods and dramatic art in Chicago with a view of training and presenting her pupils in programs of different periods and seasons during the coming year.

Boating, fishing and all manner of camp activities marked the summer and the Santa Ana was especially pleased with the fact that her brother was declared champion fisherman of the season having landed a splendid salmon trout just short of ten pounds in weight. Mrs. Flint returns to the city greatly improved in health by her extended visit among the pines.

Personal

S. W. Wheeler who spent the summer months in his old home at Crookston, Minn., where he went to dispose of property interests has returned to this city and it at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Stella E. Farrell, 1905 Bush street.

Walter R. Fine and family have returned from a two months' visit in northern California. During their absence they made their headquarters with relatives at San Jose and from there toured to various sections of the northern part of the state, going as far north as Marysville, Sacramento, San Francisco and Lake Tahoe were also included in their itinerary.

TRIBUTES PAID TO MEMORY OF J. H. TURNER

Tender tributes to the memory of J. Howard Turner, past exalted ruler of the local lodge, a comprehensive report by R. C. Peterson, delegate to the grand lodge, initiation of eight new members and general discussion of plans for the annual reunion to be held at Eureka, September 19 to 22, featured last night's meeting of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E.

At the same time it was decided, with permission of District Deputy George A. Saran of Riverside, to postpone the meeting of the local lodge, scheduled for September 25, in order that the officers and members who so desire may attend the sessions of the Elks association at Eureka. Secretary W. W. Wasser who, as secretary, has not missed a lodge meeting for ten years, will, with others, thus be enabled to maintain his excellent record for attendance.

W. C. Jerome, acting chaplain of the Santa Ana lodge, in eulogizing the late J. Howard Turner, recalled the night when, an exalted ruler, Turner helped initiate Jerome into the order.

"I have never forgotten, nor shall I ever forget, the great impression he made upon me at that time," Jerome said, with a little break in his voice. "Through all the years of our association, I found him considerate, loving, and tender, and I know that Elkdom will miss him.

"His trials ended, his virtues cherished, he rests in peace. We will cherish his memory for all time as a true and faithful Elk."

After the name of the departed brother had been called, the esquire announced him as "absent," the hall was darkened and the assembled lodgemem stood for a moment in silent meditation.

The report of Delegate Peterson, concise and highly entertaining, was received with applause by the local lodge. Peterson said the sessions of the grand lodge were particularly impressive and gave the Santa Ana members first-hand information of the deliberations of the great body.

Those received as members last night were:

Ray S. Chandler, George H. McClatchey, Jr., Scott Cunningham, Charles W. TeWinkle, Dr. William Leffel Mitchell, R. G. Lewis, Adolph Paryzek and L. F. Paresek.

Those desiring to attend the sessions of the Eureka reunion were advised to call on Secretary Wasser for their credentials. The meeting scheduled for September 25 was postponed until Tuesday, October 2.

A musical attachment to scales which would change its key if short weight were being given, has been suggested as a means for protecting customers from dishonest tradesmen.

Harbor Meeting Is Scheduled Tonight

With a boat ride over the harbor, at 5 p. m. today scheduled as one of the features, indications pointed to a large attendance at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, at the Women's clubhouse at Costa Mesa, at 7 o'clock tonight. County residents interested in the harbor have been invited.

The proposed $1,000,000 county bond issue for further improvement of the harbor and other county matters will be discussed at the monthly meeting.

According to J. C. Metzgar, ten Santa Anans made reservations for the dinner. It is expected that at least 100 men and women will be present. The Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce will be host to the visitors.

NEW REFERENCE BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

Fourteen new reference books have just been added to the shelves of the Santa Ana library. Four of the fourteen books are classified as in the field of literature, four travel, three fine arts, one science one biography and one useful arts.

The title of each book, its author and a publisher's statement concerning each book follows:

Science

"Wind and Weather," by A. G. McAdie. It is to be regretted that the book is not about three times the size. Its pleasant style it would have made an admirable popular introduction to weather wisdom, but as it is, it is somewhat too brief to be more than an invitation to the reader to go further into the subject.

Useful Arts

"Construction and Repair Work for the Farm," by F. T. Struck. Essential for the efficient and up-to-date farmer, this book will also be invaluable to every country dweller who wants to keep his place in the best possible shape, and to save money by making his own repairs.

Fine Arts

"Vacation On The Trail," by Eugene Davenport. This little book describes the essentials of camping in the higher mountain trails. It tells how to get the utmost enjoyment out of the month's tramp through the Rockies, and describes the practical details of outfitting the trip.

"British Artist Series," edited by S. C. Kaines Smith (4 vols.). Each volume of this series gives a complete story of one or more outstanding British artists.

"Simple Schemes for Decoration," by John Gloga. Decoration may be divided into two classes: Period Decoration, and General Domestic Decoration, which is concerned with the problem of making the every day surrounding pleasant and attractive. It is with the latter section that this book is concerned chiefly although a chapter dealing with studies in period decoration is included.

Literature

"Fool," by Channing Pollock. A vigorous, hard hitting, intensely dramatic play, genuinely moving and exciting.

"Poems of Alice Meynell," (complete edition.) A book of the greatest interest and value to lovers of real poetry.

"Fox Footprints," by E. J. Coatsworth. These lyrics of the Orient, done in the manner of the Japanese poet, are little pictures reflecting, usually in a moonlight atmosphere, the color and the mood of the East.

"Anthology Of Irish Verse," by Padrae Colum. Arranged according to the national moods, the reader rises in the morning with the people, goes with them to the field or the fair, sits around their hearths at night and listens to their stories.

Travel

"Chinese Mettle," by E. G. Kemp. A look into the real heart of China.

"Into the East," by Richard Curle with a preface by Joseph Conrad. Mr. Curle tells of Rangoon and Mandalay, of Penang and Singapore, of many interesting tropical experiences, and he sums it all up by saying: "The East is still the East, multiple and tenacious. One stands bewildered before this pageant, which like an iceberg has its chief being out of sight."

"The Lore and the Lure of the Yosemite," by H. E. Wilson. "It is the purpose of this little volume to create and foster in the Yosemite visitor an interest in that fast dying race, the Western Indian; his mode of life, his customs, his religious beliefs and legends, in the days before the white man sounded the death knell of his people."

"On A Chinese Screen," by W. S. Maugham. It is a truthful book: a book of charm and distinction and keen observation. This book is recommended to the average reader as three solid hours of exquisite beauty and stark truth.

Biography

"From Printer to President," S. A. Cuneo. The story of Warren G. Harding by a life long friend and fellow-editor.

MOUNT WILSON MEN PREPARE FOR ECLIPSE

Papoose Found 25 Years Ago Is Heir To Great Estate

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 29.—Twenty-five years ago a lonely tribe of wandering Tennessee Cherokee Indians passed through Nashville on their way to the West, looking for fast-disappearing hunting grounds.

During their brief sojourn here the red men made their camp in Cherokee Park. One dawn they went away, off with the new sun, for the West they were seeking. Later in the day West Nashville citizens found James White, a copper-colored lad, who, in the confusion of camp-breaking, had been left behind.

The Indian band was never heard of again in Nashville and the youngster was placed in an orphanage asylum.

Today White is heir to a fortune—if he can be found. Chief of Police Smith received a communication from Oklahoma State authorities, seeking the whereabouts of the boy, stating that he is now entitled to an estate in Oklahoma and an allotment from the government. The letter had traveled back over the path taken twenty-five years ago by the wandering tribe.

Although there has been some fluctuations in prices and some little market irregularity due to small sizes, the demand for Orange county valencia oranges remains good and fairly active, according to L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, here, today.

"Indications are," said Palmer,
"that we will continue shipments until about November 1. At present the market is looking up a little. The California Fruit Exchange is shipping out about 100 or 125 carloads of valencias a day.
Our own exchange is shipping about 125 or 300 cars a week."

Palmer said fluctuations in the price of California valencias were a marked feature of the market during last week. Price changes on fresh stock, medium sizes, were from 10 to 50 cents a box higher.
Stale fruit, however, was from 10 to 50 cents lower.

Citrus fruit shipments from northern Orange county so far this season have aggregated close to $3,000,000, it is estimated, running around a million a month since the first shipments of valencias were started in June.

By September 1, it is expected two-thirds of the valencia orange crop from this district will have been shipped. Up to Saturday 3753 carloads had been sent out.
Fruit will continue to move until November this year, it is anticipated.

Shipments from packing plants were considerably lower than the last few weeks, 994 cars of oranges and four of lemons being sent out. Two of the houses have been closed down and others have been working on part time.
All offerings showed considerable variation in point of quality and condition. Fresh fruit of desirable quality and size is in good demand. F. O. B. California quotations remain on a basis of $2.75 to $3.25 per box, especially desirable sizes running as high as $3.50 to $3.90 per box.

Latest estimates indicate close to 6000 cars of valencias will remain to be shipped from Southern California after September 1. This means that shipping will be continued well into the month of November to clean up the crop.

crop is progressing in splendid

Girl Farmerette Is Only 15,
But Proves Her Ability

WARRENTON, Va., Aug. 22.—
This is what America's "champion farm girl" has done:

She started with a Shetland pony, a gift from her mother when she was a baby of three. And now she owns $10,000 worth of live stock, including a herd of pure-bred Guernsey cattle, a herd of beef cattle, as well as 20 Shetland ponies, two hunters, 100 standard-bred chickens and a score of white colts!

"She earned it all herself," says her mother. "She did it by hard work, by saving her money and investing it wisely."

This farmerette marvel is Peggy Keith, 15 years old.

Her title of "champion farm girl" comes from the United States Department of Agriculture, which is promoting junior agricultural clubs, now comprising 500,000 boys and girls, all over the country.

"I started out to help mother make the farm pay," says Peggy. "I loved animals better than dolls. It was wonderful play! And it still is—even the hard work. I suppose that's why I've had such great luck."

"Not a bit of luck about it," says A. J. Brundage, of the Connecticut Agricultural College and state leader of Connecticut agricultural clubs, who came here to invite Peggy to the Eastern States Exposition at Springfield, Mass., next month, where she will exhibit her prize cattle and horses.

Peggy was raised on a 535-acre

CAMPAIGN

Representatives from half a dozen Southern California counties met at the farm bureau office in Santa Ana and discussed business pertaining to the Seven Southern Counties Poultry department. H. R. Howell of Garden Grove presided.

Committee reports showed keen interest in the problems of the poultrymen and a constructive course of action instituted toward the solution of those problems.

"Marketing, while held important, does not seem to take the center of the stage by any means," says A. M. Stanley, acting secretary of this regional department.

"The chief discussion centered around the accredited hatcheries and breeders' agreement, and the experiments being carried on by the egg-laying contest at Pomona, the latter project having just been adopted by the Seven Southern Counties department.

"More than a sufficient number of hatcheries and breeders have signed the hatchery agreement to make it effective, and nearly all the wrinkles have been ironed out of the agreement, so it will be put in operation this year.

GIVES UP HIS THRONE FOR FARM LIFE

Happier Back In the United States As a Mere Citizen

WASHINGTON, Ark., Aug. 29.—
The independent life of an American farmer is to be preferred to the pomp and ceremony that surrounds a throne in the Philippines, according to Charles Haffke, owner of the Grandview plantation, near here. And he ought to know.

From messenger boy to king described in brief, the career of Haffke, one of the few Americans who ever occupied a throne.

He was elected absolute ruler of the Guar-

HAFFKE

dias de Honor, a tribe of 28,000 natives, by the 128 native chiefs of the tribe, and held kingly sway two years.

Then he was lured to America by the intrigue of Dan Cupid. Mrs.
Haffke had no ambition to reign as a queen and Haffke abdicated to become again a private citizen.

Joins Navy

Don Carlos Haffke, as he was called by his subjects, was born in Germany but came to the United States with his parents at an early age. He was a messenger boy in Omaha, later enlisted in the navy and was at the battle of Manila Bay.

After his enlistment had expired, Haffke was stationed at Lingayen in the province of Pangasinan as an employee of the department of justice. He obtained the release of five chiefs of the Guardias de Honor from prison and these chiefs expressed their gratitude later by urging his election as king of the tribe.

Legal Agent, Too

A "pow-wow" of chiefs was held at Natividad and a contract was drawn up and signed by the chiefs.

Haffke was to become absolute ruler and was to receive one-twentieth of the proceeds of the land.

The subjects were to provide his
"castle" and staff of servants.
How's that?

The king ruled two years in this interior province 50 miles from any other white man. He was business and legal agent for the tribe, as well as sole arbiter of all disputes.

Haffke is of the industrious, religious turn of mind, which gave the tribe confidence in his opinion.

And now he promises to be a king of another sort. He's drilling for oil on his land—and if he strikes it well, two kingships in one lifetime ought to satisfy anyone.

Claim Pony Express
Founder Overlooked

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—That the real founder of the pony express, Ben Holliday, has been given credit for his work and utterly forgotten in the present plans being made by San Francisco for the revival of that famous event of the 60s, which will be held next month, is the assertion of a communication received by the Sacramento chamber of commerce.

According to this information,
Ben Holliday, one of the big figures in California's early history, was the man responsible in the most part for the pony express idea. It is said of him that Theodore Roosevelt at one time called him
"the biggest man of the generation."

The only remaining survivor of this family are a daughter, Mrs.
Linda Dorcy of 821 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto, her four sons, and B. Holliday, son of Ben Holliday, now living in Los Angeles.

The son is said to have followed the old trail of the pony express riders in an automobile in 1906, using notes and letters of his father
as a guide from Sacramento to St.
Joseph, Mo.

A cousin of Holliday resides in Santa Cruz, the daughter of General Hughes of Denver, and witness of the start of the first pony express rider.

JACKSON, Aug. 22.—The lumber has been delivered at the local bathing beach for the building of two 8x16 change houses.

A crew of carpenters, assisted by a number of citizens, will commence building operations. All the labor is to be done.

To make this day one of pleasure as well as of work the women of Jackson and vicinity have been invited to bring the labor to be done.

give production of the Okanagan district 3,233,000 boxes of apples, equal to 4,620 full freight cars, an increase of over 20 per cent over last year's figures. Crab apples are estimated to increase 80 per cent—205,000 boxes; pears a similar increase—94,900 boxes; prunes, 10 per cent increase—287,500 cars;
peaches a decrease of 30 per cent—141,600 crates; apricots a decrease of 15 per cent—657,000 crates.

Sugar Price Increase Will Aid Ranchers of Orange County

With sugar prices again seeking higher levels and with percentage of sugar in Orange county beets averaging 19.42 per cent, indications were, according to sugar company officials, that beet growers here will reap a rich harvest this year. Last year at this time the sugar content here was 17.94 per cent.

The farmer is paid in accordance with the price of sugar and the sugar content of the beets. An advance in the price of refined sugar was announced yesterday by the Federal Sugar and the American Sugar company.

Advances 25 Points.

They quoted 7.75 cents a pound, an increase of 25 points over the previous price. This announcement was made at the New York headquarters of the companies.

In San Francisco, sugar officials representing the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining corporation announced they would increase the wholesale price of refined cane sugar 20 cents per 100 pounds, a new price of $8 per 100 pounds, effective immediately.

The price of beet sugar, the officials announced, would be advanced to $7.80 per hundred.

Employ 250 Men.

With 250 employees on the payroll
the Santa Ana Sugar company, slicing beets for four of the largest plants in Southern California, is now turning out about 4,000 sacks of sugar daily. Beets are gathered from 15,000 acres of Orange county land and the rancher will receive a substantial payment on account by mid-September.

Irrigation, made necessary here by dry weather, will increase production costs somewhat, according to sugar officials. On the whole, however, ranchers and executives feel that this will prove to be a very satisfactory season.

PLAN ADDITIONS TO
6 STATE HOSPITALS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—Due to the crowded condition of the six state hospitals, the state board of control has instructed State Architect George B. McDougall to proceed immediately with plans for the erection of new buildings at the institution.

Braden said that all buildings to be erected will be one-story cottages and that the total cost will be approximately $700,000.

In the future, he declared, the policy of the board of control will be against the construction of two and three-story buildings at the state hospitals.

Braden said that all buildings to will prove that the cottage type of building is better for the patients and is easier to keep up. In constructing the new cottages everything will be done for the comfort of the inmates, he declared.

Says his Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges—is Guaranteed.

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved And the Rheumatic Poisons Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce the swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous, and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

TALBERT

TALBERT, Aug. 24.—In the heart of darkest Africa a tribe of blacks, once the fiercest and most ignorant and primitive on the continent, has laid out and built a town having wide streets, sewers, well-built houses, a police force and a newspaper. A generation ago this tribe lived in kraal huts, knew nothing about sanitation and did not even have a sign language by which they could communicate with each other.

Credit for the remarkable progress made is due to a lone Scotman, one Dan Crawford and his wife.

250,000 Blacks Isolated

The territory occupied by this tribe, numbering approximately 250,000, is surrounded by trackless forests and plains and is a fourteen-day canoe journey on the river to the nearest white people. Crawford's postbox, to which native runners carry his mail, is a ten-day journey from the model city.

Crawford, when a young man, went as a missionary to Lubaland. There he tried to be of such service as a missionary might, but the chief took a dislike to him and locked him up. For sixteen years he was a prisoner, and during all that time he was scheming for the good of the natives. When the chief died he was released, and he at once set to work to win the confidence of the tribe.

Sleeping Sickness Ends

At first he showed them how to make real cloth clothing, how to build houses, how to cook good food, how to save themselves much work in hunting, and, above all, how to keep free from disease. As years went by he taught them how to lay out a town, how to construct drainage and how to avoid insects by screening and that sort of things. As the settlement is in the heart of the tse-tse fly district, which means it is in the heart of the sleeping sickness district, the avoidance of insects meant the conquering of the sleeping sickness scourge.

Crawford reduced the language of the great region to written form and taught virtually all the important natives how to read and write it. He wrote a native grammar and, after succeeding in having the necessary machinery brought in, printed a few books. Today a native newspaper is being printed and several books have been published.

Discovered By Explorer

Under the direction of this lone Scotman, craft schools were established in which simple industrial facts and processes are taught and, now it is said, that black mechanics can even repair bicycles and typewriters.

News of this wonderful town was brought to civilization by Radcliffe Holmes, a professional British lecturer. Holmes was exploring wildest Africa, gathering material for lectures, when one of his camera men was seriously injured. The injured man was sent to Luanza, and was there so wonderfully cared for by Crawford and his wife that the lecturer later went there to thank them.

Reaching the town Holmes was amazed. "It was if," he says, "one had been suddenly whisked out of Africa into an English beauty spot."

Know Much of Poisons

Several years ago Crawford's nephew, a young Scotch medical man, joined Crawford and his wife to assist them in their work, and these three are the only white people in the vast territory. Crawford and his wife are now getting old.

The natives are a reasonably peaceful people, but they have their foibles. They have an amazing knowledge of poisons, being more familiar with than white scientist with certain alkaloids.

"Trials" in which the guilt or innocence of the accused is settled by his ability to survive a dose of poison deemed certain to be normally fatal are not unknown among them.

Frank Ortega

A grader run by satarpiller has been put on the Adams road which is to be oiled from the railroad track to the river bridge.

Two homes were moved by the Talbert house movers this week and both for peculiar reasons that were very similar. One of the homes was at Sunset Beach and partly built when it was discovered that the Sunset Beach Land company, which had sold the lot, had made a mistake in its lines and the new owner was building the house in the street. It was necessary to move the building, which was of fair size, thirty-five feet to put it on its proper location. The land company made the transfer. The other house Talbert moved was owned by Sam Clapp and had been built on the lot adjoining the one owned by him.

On Thursday Talbert loaded a well rig on a flat car at the La Balsa station for Robert Elliott, who was shipping it to Arizona to the man to whom he had sold it.

The Talbert hay baler is employed at present at Huntington Beach on the Will Thompson ranch where the alfalfa hay crop is being baled. Talbert is also hauling beets for the Japanese ranching on the Williams' land.

Galaktinoff took one look and said that his missing trunk was much bigger.

The transfer company started a tracer on the search and it led straight back to the homeless trunk. Galaktinoff refused to be convinced. He was so sure that his own trunk was larger than the unclaimed specimen that he filed suit through Attorney Andrew Pirovich to recover $2421 damages, asserting that the wandering trunk contained a quantity of gold rubles, as well as family heirlooms and expensive garments.

Judge Murasky and the manager of the transfer company shouldered the responsibility of ordering the maverick trunk opened in court. Mrs. Galaktinoff rummaged

Varicose Veins Are Speedily Reduced and Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Strong, Powerful Yet Safe, Surgeon's Prescription Called Moone's Emerald Oil, Has Astonished Physicians.

There is one simple and inexpensive way to reduce varicose swollen veins and bunches, and get them down to normal, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning. People who have painful, enlarging veins should not neglect them, for they sometimes burst and cause much misery and loss of time.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being so marvelously antiseptic that it at once destroys germs and poison caused by germs is such a remarkable healing agent that eczema, barbers' itch, salt rheum and other inflammatory skin eruptions go in a few days. Blisters are quickly absorbed and even goitres, wens and enlarged glands are dissolved.

For years it has been used in hospitals for boils, carbuncles, ulcers, abscesses and open sores and with the best results. With Moone's Emerald Oil, which any pharmacist can supply you, is a folder that gives instructions for use in all of the above distressing complaints.

Your druggist will be glad to supply you—ad.

FLOATING HOME OF AIRPLANES MAKES TOUR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The U. S. S. Langley, a floating air-drome, is making an exhibition tour of the Atlantic coast.

Airships are launched from the landing deck of this mother ship seventy-five feet above the water and return to be trapped in a network of wires which can stop an airship in thirty feet. In 500 landings there has not been a miscue.

The drome is complete in every detail. Every apparatus used on land is part of the ship's equipment. There are complete work and machine shops, with a heavy personnel of mechanics. Homing pigeons have been trained for the first time to return to a floating home. Birds released from the planes miles in sea return to the Langley with messages.

The ship, as seen from the shore, appears to be a floating motion picture set, with its top deck as an open-air stage. Steaming about the ship it is an odd appearing spectacle, with a stockade built as a wind-break for the planes on the side.

Obstructions Removed

When a ship is to be sent off, all projections above the deck line drop from sight. The smokestack bends over, flagpoles sink and the big steel stockade pickets drop from view.

Then the first airship takes off in sixty feet. Ships are sent off at intervals of a few seconds. When they are ready to land they make three circuits of the ship, feeling prevailing wind currents. Then moving as slowly as possible the plane is flown at a height of twelve to twenty feet over the stern of the Langley, dropped to the deck and halted within a few feet by the special landing device developed by the navy.

One Every Two Minutes

A ship can be landed every two minutes. It requires thirty seconds to stop the plane and a minute and a half to release it from its trapping bonds and taxi it up to the starting line.

A net similar to that used by circus acrobats is stretched over the sides of the Langley. When a plane is ready to land or take off, all operating help drops into these nets so as to absolutely clear the deck. Topside wireless antenna is replaced on the Langley with side antenna, which is strung along the sides of the converted collier. A steel net over the stern protects the aviators in case they miss the ramp approach arrangement at the stern.

The most successful maneuvers are conducted with the Langley under way, when it is pointed into the wind, the aviators making their own favorable conditions for which land ships have to wait.

"HOMEWORLD BOUND" OPENS AT YOST TONIGHT.

Said to be a most colorful photoplay and rare entertainment, from the standpoint of fine direction, skilled portrayal, artistic photography and beauty of investiture.

Thomas Meighan's latest vehicle, "Homeward Bound," will be on view at the Yost theater for three days beginning tonight.

Lila Lee, one of the screen's most popular leading women, plays opposite the star in this delightful sea picture which is based on Peter Kynne's story, "The Light to Leeward." The story, deals with the love romance of a sailor and the daughter of a ship owner.

The supporting cast is one of exceptional excellence and includes among others, Charles Abbe, William T. Carlton, Hugh Cameron, Gus Welnberg, Maude Turner Gordon, Cyril Ring and Katherine Spencer.

LUCK MADE MOVIE STAR OF HUNTLEY GORDON.

"Luck and an accident brought me into motion pictures," declared Huntley Gordon, who plays the male lead in "Bluebeard's 8th Wife," starring Gloria Swanson, which is now playing a week's engagement at the Temple theater.

"The accident was stepping into a mud puddle," says Gordon. "When I stopped at a shoe-shine stand for a polish, I met a friend, Hugh Dillman. He informed me that he was going out to the Vitagraph studio to refuse part and asked me if I'd like to take a flyer into pictures and try the role. I went with him to the studio and played the part, a juvenile. To me it was almost for fun, as I had no intention of remaining in pictures.

"But I got across, took some further screen tests and was engaged for a picture in which Joseph Kilgour and Arline Pretty were featured. I was next engaged to play

S. A. ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON SPEED LAWS

A defense and explanation of the abolition of speed traps and of the change in the law regulating the right of way of vehicles at intersections was made at the meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club yesterday by Attorney Alvin Kelso, counsel for the Southern California Automobile club.

At the meeting of the club, an interesting and highly humorous address on advertising was delivered by L. R. Crawford, of the Crawford advertising agency, of Santa Ana.

Special music for the meeting of the club included pleasing numbers by the Chandler trio, orchestra, and much appreciated vocal solos by Miss Zola Powelson, Santa Ana singer.

Fewer Arrests Claimed

"After officers and justices get used to the law which prohibits the use of testimony based on speed traps," said Attorney Kelso, "there will be fewer arrests than there are now. The purpose of the law is to make the basis of prosecution the act of careless driving. Speed limits remain the same, but it is not intended that there shall be prosecution unless by driving faster than the law allows the driver endangers life or property."

"Many a law-abiding citizen has been arrested for speeding when he was endangering no one. There is the disposition of many people to break a speed limit just because he is prohibited from going faster than a certain speed."

Lives on Speed Fines

"There is a city near San Diego that is actually trying to pay for its city hall by collecting fines from automobile drivers. Culver City has a number of motorcycle officers out and a motorist can hardly pass through that city without contributing to the city's treasury. In this country you have been fortunate in that fining of motorists for revenue only has not been your aim."

"There were a number of reasons why the speed trap was abolished. One was that one trap was found sixty feet short. Instead of being 360 feet long it was only 300."

Kelso said that under the new regulations the first thing to be determined is who broke the law. If a collision occurs, find out who is careless.

"The new intersections rule," said he, "gives the vehicle to the right the right of way, but there is a provision that when the vehicle coming from the left is on the intersection first it has the right of way. It is my opinion that this rule will result in giving the vehicle from the left the right of way because three-fourths of the intersection lies to a driver's left and one-quarter to his right."

Crawford in opening his address on advertising applied some strikingly ridiculous phrases to local businesses, bringing out, however, the value of telling lines in advertising.

"Just as there is no correct style in dress but the style of today," said he, "so there is no correct style in advertising but the style of today. Advertising is not an exact science. One can never tell what will bring results until he has tried it."

Talk is Illustrated

Crawford used a number of drawings to illustrate the kinds of advertising. The last chart was one showing the ideal advertisement, one that brings the advertiser and the buyer together in a matter of mutual interest.

Those in charge of yesterday's Rotary meeting were the club's four newest members, William Rudd, C. V. Davis, William McKay and C. F. Skirven. The committee for the next meeting is F. L. Andrews, Alex Brownridge and Marshall Keefer, members of the Santa Ana school board, and D. K. Hammond, principal of the Santa Ana high school.

Missing Youths Are Sought In Southland

Assistance in locating two Southern California youths who recently disappeared from their homes and who are thought still to be in the Southland has been asked of the newspapers of this section.

In the hope that the boys may see the request to communicate with home, or that others may aid, the description of the lads and their home address was given, as follows:

WALTER HAAS — nephew of John B. Haas, 716 California building, Los Angeles, aged 14, dark blonde hair, blue eyes, square shoulders. Had on blue shirt, and brown corduroy pants with bell-bottoms when last seen.

JACKIE SHAY — son of John J. Shay, Alhambra, aged 14 years, dark brown hair, large blue eyes, weight 112, straight athletically built, strong for age. Wore gray suit, short pants or Mexican overalls when last seen.

Humboldt Solons Rap Game Bureau Proposal

EUREKA, Aug. 18 — Declaring the California fish and game commission is overstepping the bounds of its functions in attempting, through public propaganda, to convince the residents of Humboldt county that fishing is paramount to the industrial development of this great county, when, as a matter of fact, such industrial development can be secured through harnessing the energy of the Klamath river without destroying fishing on this river, the board of supervisors of Humboldt county went on record indorsing the power project of the Electro Metals company. The board further expressed the opinion that the establishment of hatcheries above and below the proposed dam at Ishi Pishi falls would prevent the destruction of commercial and sport fishing on the Klamath river.

SET 'HAND BUBBLE' CASE FOR SEPT. 13

United States Commissioner Long, Los Angeles, today had fixed Thursday, September 13, as the date for the hearing of Dr. W. R. Price and Ben McLendon, charged by the government with using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Price and McLendon, said to be the heads of the movement designed to parcel certain portions of the Irvine ranch in Orange county to homesteaders, demanded an immediate hearing when the case came up yesterday in Los Angeles. A crowd of investors of both sexes crowded the courtroom.

Assistant United States Attorney Herbert Ellis, in asking that the case go over until September 13, indicated the federal grand jury will be asked to investigate the asserted activities of the two promoters.

71ST BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY KEEPING BUSY

"I believe in keeping busy. I enjoy it."

Thus, did Asa Vandermast, merchant, respond to an inquiry as to how he celebrated his seventy-first birthday, which occurred, Monday of this week.

"I celebrated my birthday right on the job in the boys clothing department of our store," declared Vandermast.

Vandermast is an apostle of "don't rust out." His philosophy of life calls for "keeping busy." "Yes," he said, "keeping busy has helped keep me young. I don't feel 71 years of age. I am strong and, truth is, he doesn't look within ten or a dozen years of his age.

Anyone who has an idea that merchants live shorter lives than other folk might talk the matter over with the senior member of the firm of Vandermast and Son, clothiers. He would find that this active merchant has been selling goods from the shelf for quite a while—oh, some fifty-four years. Fifty-four years does make quite a while, to be sure.

For twelve years, Vandermast was a clerk. Then, forty-two years ago he went into business for himself. For some twenty-two years he conducted general merchandising business in Iowa.

Twenty years ago he landed in Santa Ana, imbued with a love of the golden west. He opened a clothing store on East Fourth street in a room that is now a part of the Spurgeon furniture store. Then he moved to a room adjoining the First National bank on the west, and eighteen years ago he moved into the store on East Fourth where he and his son, Walter, are doing business today.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. Asa Vandermast returned from a three months trip that took them to New Orleans by rail, from New Orleans to New York by water. They visited Boston, Philadelphia, where Vandermast went through some of the factories that make goods handled by his store here, Iowa, the Yellowstone and other places. In Iowa the Santa Anans visited old friends at Ames, Prairie City, Newton and Orange City, in which places Vandermast years ago had stores.

SHIFT IN PLANS FOR DETENTION HOME SEEN

Rejection of all bids for construction of the first unit of the new county detention home, by the board of supervisors here yesterday, precludes alterations in the original plans, looking to lower building costs, to conform with the $40,000 total specified by the board, County Probation Officer R. R. Miller said here today. The lowest bid, complete with heating system, approximated $48,000.

Miller made it plain, however, that he understood the board of supervisors contemplated early erection of the first unit, providing satisfactory bids were received on the structure under revised specifications.

With Architect F. H. Eley, the county probation office, at an early date, intended making changes in the building that were expected to make a material reduction in the total cost. These were expected to be made and the new plans and specifications drawn for presentation to the board within three weeks or a month, Miller added.

The original plans called for two-inch reinforced concrete construction throughout. The probation officer predicted that new plans would do away with concrete work entirely, with the exception of use for dormitory rooms and "strong rooms." These, he added, probably would call for eight-inch concrete, with the rest of the building of wood, and possibly plaster. One or two rooms, originally intended to be of permanent construction, would be built only as temporary rooms, to be made permanent when other units are added to the home.

Elimination of playground features, also was contemplated, as an economy move, he added, although no change in fixtures was thought advisable. An estimate much less than $40,000, thus was expected to be effected.

The delay necessitated in the alteration of plans, and the calling for new bids, probably would throw the date set for completion of the detention home behind more than two months, it was generally estimated.

EXPECT SOLON TO ANNOUNCE FAIR PLANS

With United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson en route to the Pacific coast and due in Southern California in the near future, E. D. Yost, chairman of the entertainment committee of the seventh Annual Orange County fair, today called a meeting of this committee for the purpose of completing tentative plans for the great program to be launched when the fair opens in this city, Tuesday, September 25.

"The entertainment committee," said Manager R. D. Flaherty, "has in mind a number of highly interesting features for the big fair and, at its meeting here late today, will probably decide a number of important questions, including, possibly, the question of whether there will be a beauty contest, or a fashion show, or both."

"At the same time, the committee, pending further advices from Senator Johnson, will make no definite arrangements for opening night, as we hope to have the Senator deliver the principal address on this occasion. We expect to hear from Senator Johnson immediately after his arrival in Southern California."

Senator Johnson, on his way to California, was in Omaha today.

For the purpose of working out complete plans for participation by the respective farm centers, chairmen of the farm center committees will meet tonight at the farm bureau here.

THE manifold powers of circumstance were in conspiracy against Ned Cornet this late August afternoon. No detail was important in itself. It had been drizzling slowly and mournfully, but drizzle is not uncommon in Seattle. Ned Cornet had been passing the time pleasantly in the Totem Club, on Fourth street, doing nothing in particular, nothing exceedingly bad or good or even unusually diverting; but such was quite a customary practice with him. Finally, Cornet's special friend, Rodney Coburn, had just returned from one of his hundred sojourns in far places—this time from an especially attractive salmon stream in Canada.

The two young men had met in Coburn's room at the Totem Club, and the steward had gone thither with tall glasses and ice. Coburn had not returned empty-handed from Canada. Partly in celebration of his return, and partly because of the superior quality of the goods that had accompanied him, his friend Ned raised his afternoon limit from two powerful pre-dinner cocktails to no less than four richly amber whiskies-and-sodas. Thus their meeting was auspicious, and on leaving the club, about seven, it came about that Ned Cornet met the rain.

It was not enough to bother him. He didn't even think about it. It was only a lazy, smoky drizzle that deepened the falling twilight and blurred the lights in the street. Ned Cornet had a fire within him that more or less occupied his thoughts.

In a space of time so short that it resembled some half-glimpsed incident in a dream, Ned found himself, still at his wheel, the car crosswise in the street and the front wheels almost touching the curb, a terrible and ghastly sooty upon him. Something had happened. He had gone into a perilous skid at the corner of Fourth and Madison, the car had slid sickeningly out of his control, and at the wrong instant a dark shape, all too plainly another automobile, had lurched out of the murk of the rain.

Ned Cornet had had automobiles at his command long before it was safe for him to have his hands on them. When cold sober he drove rather too fast, none too carefully, but had an almost incredible mastery over his car. He knew how to pick his wheel tracks over bumpy roads, and he knew the exact curve that a car could take with safety in rounding a corner. Even now, in the crisis that had just been, he had handled his car like the veteran he was. The wonder was not that he had hit the other car, but rather, considering the speed with which he had come, that it should remain before his sight, but little damaged, instead of being shattered into kindling and dust. Nevertheless it was not yet time to receive congratulations from spectators. There had been serious consequences enough. He was suddenly face to face with the fact that in his haste to get home for dinner he had very likely obliterated a human life.

There was a curious, huddled heap on the dim pavement, just beyond the small car he had struck. It was a girl; she lay very still, and the face half covered by the arm seemed very white and lifeless. And blasted by a terror such as was never known in all his wasted years, Ned leaped, raced, and fell to his knees at her side.

The car he had struck was one of the thousand of "jitneys" of which he so often spoken with contempt. The girl was a shopgirl or factory worker, on her way home. Shaken with horror, but still swift and strong from the stimulus of the crisis, he lifted her head and shoulders in his arms.

Then the girl smiled in his face.

"I'm not hurt," he heard her say, seemingly in answer to some senseless query of his. She shook her head at the same time, and she smiled as she did it. "I know what I'm saying," she went on. "I'm not hurt—one-bit!"

The little drama, as it hurried in an instant from the void, was already done. Tragedy had been averted; it was merely one of the thousands of unimportant smashups that occur in a great city every year. Some of the spectators were already moving on. In just a moment before half a dozen more words could be said, other cars were swinging by, and a policeman was on the scene asking questions and jotting down license numbers. Just for a moment he paused at Ned's elbow.

"Your name and address, please?" he asked coldly.

Ned whirled, turning his eyes from the girl's face for the first time. "Ned Cornet," he answered. And he gave his father's address on Queen Anne Hill.

"Show up before Judge Rossman in the morning," he ordered. "The jitney there will send their bills to you. I'd advise you to pay 'em."

"I'll pay 'em," Ned agreed. "I'll throw in an extra twenty to pay for their loss of time."

"This young lady says she ain't hurt," the policeman went on. "It certainly is not credit to you that she ain't. There is plenty of witness here if she wants to make a suit."

"I'll give this young lady complete satisfaction," Ned promised. He turned to her in easy friendliness, a queer little crooked smile, winning and astonishingly juvenile, appearing at his mouth. "Now let's get in my car. I'll take you home—and we can talk this over."

She directed him out Madison, into a district of humble, modest, but respectable residences. "It's lucky you came along—I don't often get a ride clear to my door."

"Lucky!" I want to say if it wasn't for all the luck in the world you'd be going to the hospital instead. I'm taking all the blame for that smash back there—I got off mighty lucky. Now let's settle about the dress—and a few other things. First—you're sure you're not hurt?"

He was a little surprised at the gay, girlish smile about her lips.

HORSE RACING NOW POPULAR AT FAIRS

Those who have entertained the idea that the horse racing game is on the decline would very decidedly change their minds if they could look along the long list of racing entries which are now being recorded for the various meets in the state. At Stockton this week every class was filled and most of them with a long string of entries. The paddock was crowded with old-time horsemen as well as a lot of new ones for the West.

The racing program at Riverside this fall is stronger than ever before presented and indicates an increasing interest in the racing game. The track at this fair, which has the fastest record of any half-mile track on the coast, is in perfect condition and some of the fast horses on the coast will attempt to make records this year in the harness events.

There is also a very attractive running race program with good money offered and a large number of running horses are here working out.

ROYER ESTATE CASE ECHO IS HEARD AGAIN

"Not a particle. It would be nice if I could go to the hospital two weeks or so, just to rest—but I haven't the conscience to do it. I'm not even scratched—just pushed over in the street. And I'm afraid I can't even charge you for the dress. I've always had too much conscience, Mr. Cornet."

"Of course I'm going to pay—" "The dress cost only about twenty dollars—a sale. And it doesn't seem to be even damaged. Of course it will have to be repaired. To save you the embarrassment I see growing in your face, I'll gladly send the bill to you if you like—"

In the bright street light he looked up, studying her face. Her skin had a healthy freshness, pink like the marvelous pink of certain spring wild flowers, and she had decided girlish features that wholly suited his appraising eye. This girl in his car was in her early twenties—over, rather than under—of medium height, with the slender strength of an expert swimmer, yet her beauty was that of a child.

He couldn't tell, at first, in just what her beauty lay. Other girls had fresh skins, bright eyes, smiling lips and masses of dark lustrous hair—and some of them even had the simplicity of good manners. Ned had a quick, sure mind, and for a moment he mused over his wheel as he tried to puzzle it out.

But soon after this Ned Cornet caught himself with a whispered oath. He was positively mauldin! The excitement the near approach to tragedy, the influence of the figure manifesting itself once more in his veins were making him strong and think like a silly fool. The girl was a particularly attractive shopgirl or factory worker, strong and athletic for all her appealing slenderness, doubtless pretty enough to awaken considerable interest in certain of his friends who went in for that sort of thing, but he, Ned Cornet, had other interests. The gaze he bent upon her was suddenly indifferent.

Attorney Frank Willcox, Los Angeles, represents Miss Ferand. Parties filed by the intervenor recite the previous court proceedings which resulted in the breaking of the Royer will on the ground, it is quoted, that undue influence had been used by Miss Ferand and Willcox upon General Royer in the matter of framing the will. According to the intervenor's complaint, charges of incompetency or fraud had not been upheld by the jury which heard the case.

They were almost at their destination now, and he did not see the sudden decline of her mood in response to his dying interest. Sensitive as a flower to sunlight, she realized in a moment that a barrier of casta had dropped down between them. She was silent the rest of the way.

"Would you mind telling me what you do—in the way of work, I mean?" he asked her, at her door. "My father has a business that employs many girls. There might be a chance—"

"I can do almost anything with a needle, thank you," she told him with perfect frankness. "Flitting, hemstitching, embroidery—I could name a dozen other things."

"We employ dozens of seamstresses and fitters. I suppose I can reach you here—after work hours. I'll keep you in mind."

An instant later he had bidden her good night and driven away, little dreaming, that through the glass pane of the door, her lustrous blue eyes had followed the red spark that was his tail-light till it disappeared in the deepening gloom.

II

NED CORNET kept well within the speed laws on his way back to his father's beautiful home on Queen Anne Hill. He was none too well pleased with himself, and his thoughts were busy. There would be some sort of a scene with Godfrey Cornet, the gray man whose self-assumed wealth would ultimately settle for the damages to the municipality—perhaps only a frown, a moment's coldness about the lips, but a scene nevertheless.

No one could look at Godfrey Cornet and doubt that he was the veteran of many wars. The battles he had fought had been those of economic stress, but they had scarred him none the less.

Every one of his fine features told the same story. His mouth was hard and grim, but it could smile with the kindest, most boyish pleasure on occasion. His nose was lean with never a sagging muscle, his eyes, coal black, had each bright point as of blades of steel. People always wondered at his trim, erect form, giving little sign of his advanced years. For all the luxury with which he had surrounded his wife and son, he himself had always lived frugally: simple food, sufficient exercise, the most personal and detailed contact with his business.

Salaries of these starlets range from $40 a week upwards. As an example of high prices paid, the mother of Virginia Lee Corbin, 12 year old actress, today filed suit against Fisher Promotions, Inc., because a year of back salary at the rate of $300 a week had not been paid her daughter.

Colored Family Prospers

All kinds of folks are touched by this new form of movie prosperity. A large colored family drives about one studio in a gorgeously painted automobile. They are parents of little Farina, two and one-half year old movie pickaninny, whose antics on the screen paid for the car. Little Robert DeVilis, who plays both boy and girl parts, recently bought his mother a bungalow in Culver City.

The Mary Miles Minter "meal ticket" charges to the contrary, cases where these child actors are exploited by their parents are few.

Most of the fathers of talented offspring place the child's money in a trust fund for use when maturity is reached. That is what Pa Coogan and Jack Montgomery, father of Baby Peggy, are doing.

The child stars spend very little of the enormous salaries paid them.

"Expenses" $3 Per Week

Papa Montgomery told the United Press today that he gives Baby Peggy $3 a week for her "expenses"—consisting of dolls, candy and presents for her seven year old sister, Jackie Coogan, who is twice as old, gets about twice as much spending money.

Parenthood pays in these favored film families. Pa Coogan draws about $450 a week and Ma Coogan about $150 for managing Jackie and doing other work for their young son's company. Pa Montgomery was formerly a stock actor at Universal City. When Baby Peggy's talent was discovered he gave up acting and became his daughter's own special director.

Plane Theft Charge Quashed at Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—A charge of grand larceny involving the alleged attempt of John Collier to steal an airplane owned by Sam Metzger of San Jose on March 18 last was dismissed by Superior Court Judge Louis H. Ward on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Leo R. Friedman. Friedman pointed out that as Collier was unable to fly, there was no criminal intent. Collier got the plane off the ground, but crashed a few moments later.

Charging that the family of the late General Julian O. Royer are in collusion to deprive her of securities which came into her possession at his death, Miss Marie Ferand, former ward and secretary of the deceased capitalist, today had intervened in two "friendly" superior court actions here. One was brought by the widow, Mrs. Louise Royer, Anaheim, and the other by her daughter, Mrs. Marie Amstutz, and both directed against the son, Max O. Royer, administrator of the Royer estate, and the Anaheim Investment company.

The suits were recently filed to obtain possession of 1439 shares of stock in the investment company, 1164 being claimed by the widow and 275 shares by the daughter.

Miss Ferand, who was made chief beneficiary under the late General Royer's will, which was broken in a sensational court battle by the widow and children, declares in her present proceedings that the family is now scheming to take from her such legacies as remained to her after the will was broken and the son, Max Royer, was named as administrator of the estate. She claims to own 975 shares of the 1439 involved in the so-called "friendly" suits and bases her suit in intervention upon her claim to interest in the property concerned, and upon her allegation that the administrator and the investment company do not intend to make any defense to the suits filed by the widow and daughter.

Steps to eliminate the diagonal crossing of the Southern Pacific railroad at the south terminus of Fairview avenue, Costa Mesa residents had today filed, with the board of supervisors, a petition asking that the crossing be relocated, and a right-angle crossing be constructed, similar to two crossings at Paularino.

"A special program is being arranged for the occasion," reads an invitation sent out by Thomas H. Feely, grand knight, "and one of the features will be a banquet, to be served at 5 p.m. in the hall."

On this occasion many out-of-town visitors will be in attendance.

Completion of the remodeling of the structure is virtually in sight.

The hall will be one of the most modern meeting places of the kind in Southern California.

Mr. Tuthill who recently purchased the old Streeter place from Elmer E. Jahraus, is remodeling the cottage inside and out.

Mr. Izadore Dockweiler spent the week-end at Honeyuckle Court. He is a well known attorney of Los Angeles and is much impressed with "Our Village" and is coming back again.

Mr. John Riley returned to Los Angeles Monday after two weeks at the Arch Beach Tavern.

Mrs. Newton Johnson and her family are down from Pasadena for a week or so at their house on the Cliffs. Mrs. Johnson gave a children's party Monday afternoon for her children's young friends.

Mrs. Gus Webb and her daughter, Miss Maxine of Los Angeles, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Purpus. They are on their way home from San Diego.

Miss Irene Balcolm has left for Coalinga, where she is superintendent of music in the schools.

She has been staying with her sister Mrs. Fairbanks, who is occupying the Kingman cottage on Riverside Drive. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Kingman are expected down next Sunday to stay for awhile.

The Misses Falkenau, the three daughters of Victor Falkenau, "The Man who built Gary, Indiana," and now resident of Altadena, are staying at Arch Beach

The evening was spent in doing "stunts," charades, story telling.

SCHOOL KIDS ANNEX
TWO SPORT CROWNS

Youth Is Served Again As Helen Wills, Jones Win
Tennis, Golf Titles

By ROY GROVE

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Two school kids, Helen Wills, the 17-year-old newly crowned queen of the tennis world, and Bobby Jones, the 21-year-old king of all golfdom, hold the most popular and most sought-for titles in the United States and the world.

There is much to be likened in the efforts of these two and more to be admired in their dogged attempts to gain these coveted crowns.

Their processions to their respective thrones has almost been automatic, a gradual, consistent step by step. Miss Wills first attracted attention in the sporting world back in 1921 when she captured the national girls' championship, repeating the following year.

Novices at Same Time

Jones' first important victory was in the southern amateur in 1917, and he, like Miss Wills, repeated in this event the year after.

It was about six years ago that Miss Wills took to the game and about the same length of time that Bobby became so interested in golf. Since that time they have both been on the threshold of undying fame only to have fate at varying instances turn them back when victory seemed almost certain.

Miss Wills was nosed out of the national woman's event last year, the first time she had entered, by the woman she recently defeated, Mrs. Mallory. At that time, however, she won the national doubles with Mrs. Zanderstein.

Meets Suzanne Next

Jones' climb has been as steady. He started in the national open journey back in 1920, where he finished eighth. The following year he finished fifth, the third year second and finally first, after the long four-year grind.

Miss Wills' triumph has been as sensational in steadiness when she had to beat the best in the game to reach Mrs. Mallory, one of long tournament experience and steel nerves. Not alone that, but she had to beat the best England had, and all the other countries, which she did.

She has yet to meet Suzanne Lenglen, the French flash, the only tennis player whom she has never met. And that probably will be at Wimbledon next year.

NEW BOXING ARENA
WILL OPEN SEPT. 18

Construction Work Rushed
On Building to House
Club Near City

With construction activities well under way, indications today were that the Orange County Athletic club, now being erected for Henry Johnson and George Antoine, both of Santa Ana, near the intersection of North Main street and Chapman avenue, would stage its first all-star boxing card Tuesday, September 18.

The front of the building will be occupied by stores and the rear will house the arena with a capacity for approximately 2,000 persons. A share of the proceeds from the bouts will be given to the disabled veterans of the World war, Los Angeles post No. 1, according to C. McCoy, who has been retained by Antoine and Johnson as matchmaker.

A large tract of land at the rear of the club building will be cleared of trees, and will be conveyed into a parking space for automobiles. The club will have a first class gymnasium in connection and a competent instructor will be in charge, according to McCoy.

A dome at the top of the building, measuring 20 feet by 20 feet, will provide plenty of ventilation and a series of openings in the side walls will assure comfort during warm weather. These openings may be closed during cool weather. One section of the house will be reserved for ladies and ladies and their escorts.

Ringsider's
Ring
Ravings

Kid Mexico, Huntington Beach boxer and promoter, fought Jack (Midnight) Edmundson to a draw at the opening of Jack Doyle's new Vernon arena last night.

Edmundson made the bass drummer look like a dub with the pounding he gave Mexico's ribs," one morning newspaper stated, "but evidently the judges didn't want to spoil anybody's evening and they called it a draw."

Edmundson weighed 165 pounds while Mexico tipped the scales at 154.

Johnny Adams, Billy Darnley's meal-ticket, gave away many pounds to fight Frankie Tierney but got a draw. Adams has everything but he's being rushed along altogether too rapidly for his own good. One of these days some boy will set him on the canvas for ten counts and the only reason will be because Adams "burned" himself up with too many battles.

Sunny Jim, colored middleweight, who meets Mexico at Huntington Beach Friday night, appears in the main event at Venice tonight. He takes on "Racehorse" Roberts.

Battling Ward and Sailor Moore tangle in the main dial at San Fernando tonight.

The veteran Steve Dalton meets Jack Griffin in the final event of the boxing show at El Rio tomorrow night.

Bert Colima, Whittier middleweight, gets the top assignment tonight at Fred Windsor's Los Angeles arena, Thirtieth and Long Beach avenue. Colima meets Jimmy Howard, French-Canadian middleweight champ. Tony Puglisi, who burlesqued with Leo Matlock at Huntington Beach last week, goes on with "Sunny" Goodrich in the semi-final.

most difficult to solve when it is perfected. Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia lightweight, is a master at the "side-wheel" style, but Wilson is not Tendler. He is far from it. Since he insisted upon dubbing around and keeping his title under lock and key, Wilson has become known as "the cheese champion." He resented it with the claim that he was willing to fight, but couldn't get the fights. He maintained that he might not be a champion to compare with some of his predecessors, but that he was good enough to beat any middleweight of the division.

He will have a chance to show it when he meets Greb, although that old thing springs up again—is Greb a middleweight?

If Greb does make 160 pounds, he will be a middleweight officially, and if he does not weaken himself too much, Wilson will have as tough a job as any of his predecessors had in defending the crown that he now holds.

The champion has trained seriously for the fight and some of the experts who have seen him working have changed their opinion of him and are rather inclined to believe that he may show himself to be a real fighter.

Greb never has been a great puncher, his knockouts are considered the only way to judge punching power. But Harry Greb hits oftener and with more annoyance than any man in the ring. He can go fifteen rounds faster and he can fight meaner than any man in the ring.

INTERVIEWER FINDS FIRPO CONFIDENT,
WORKING HARD FOR BOUT WITH DEMPSEY

South American Giant Trains In Unorthodox Style As Daily Cables From Argentine Direct
Methods He Shall Adopt

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29.—With the same air of mystery and atmosphere of the unusual that surrounded his meteoric rise from a dark cellar in Newark to the roof garden of Fistiana, Luis Angel Firpo is preparing himself for his fight with Jack Dempsey.

As he tore up the book of regulations in battering his way through the trial horses that were put to him for a test, so the South American giant is discarding all the orthodox conventions and ways of getting ready for his championship fight.

Firpo is doing things his own way and his way has nothing like it in the lengthy annals of boxing or fighting.

Gets Daily Cable Order

Daily from his friend and protege, Felix Bunge, Firpo gets a cable from far-away South America telling him what to do. Those who like to poke fun at Luis, and they are in the majority here, say that his diet is even prescribed by cable and that the menu for each meal arrives just in time for his Latin cook to prepare the viands.

They are reviving all the Harry Lauder stories and applying them to Firpo. They think it absurd that he should be so distrustful of the natives as to barrier himself with flocks of his fellow countrymen. They kid him about training in a dog-racing park and make light of his training methods, but to all of them Firpo gives them answer by his actions—it's none of your business."

Perhaps Firpo knows not what is going on outside of the business at his immediate hand. He can't read or understand English, and no doubt his handlers are careful to keep from him anything that might detract from his morale. He is certainly hard to get to, but once by the guard of his watchmen he is as safe as able "Loose" that he has always been.

Confident of Victory

"I am fine. I am working hard and I think I will win," he said through an interpreter. He transmitted the information that he knew he was being picked generally as the loser by the experts, but he took some pleasure in recalling that Tommy Gibbons was also labeled as a victim by the experts.

"Just what you see at the camp," Firpo said when asked what he was doing. He merely smiled when told the belief that he was doing real work in private. "Where would I train here?" He asked, looking around his dwelling.

After talking to Firpo, one gets the hunch that his protests about being shoved into the ring too hastily with Dempsey might be a sham. He gives the impression that he is trying to hide his real ability and he certainly acts and talks with supreme confidence.

"Are you going to lay anything on yourself?" he was asked.

"Mr. Firpo wants to know what you mean," the interpreter replied.

Papyrus Defeated In English Stakes Race

YORK, England, Aug. 29.—Papyrus was defeated in the Great Ebor Handicap for the Duke of York stakes this afternoon, coming in second behind Craigeley. Craigeley placed third.

Papyrus, the derby handicap winner ranked as Britain's leading 3-year-old, was heavily handicapped, carrying 135 pounds.

Objection was raised to Craigeley being given the money because his jockey "bored in."

DOVES SCATTERED
AS SEASON NEARS

County Game Warden Will
War on Law Violators;
Tells Quail Scarcity

With doves widely scattered few hunters who go out seeking birds on the opening day, Saturday of this week, will come home with limits. This is the opinion of County Game Warden W. E. Adkinson, who was in Santa Ana this week in connection with the prosecution of two men charged with killing doves out of season. Incidentally, the four doves that the men got cost them $12.50 apiece. The price was paid the justice of the peace at Corona.

The dove is the only game in Orange county that has anywhere near held its own against the hunters. Even that statement is made comparatively, for nobody contends that doves are anywhere nearly as plentiful now in his section as they used to be.

Doves Good Flyers

Still, the utter annihilation of the dove seems to be some distance away. The dove flies long distances, and new stock can come in from afar. This, sportsmen say, is not true of the quail. The flying area of the quail is somewhat limited. He won't go very far from where he was hatched and brought up and where he knows there is water for him to drink.

It is because the quail is easily hunted out that the bird is approaching the vanishing point in this county. County Game Warden Adkinson is a strong advocate of a closed season of three years for quail in this county.

COMMENTS ARE FAVORABLE TO HARBOR WORK

Here's News Notes For Irvine People

IRVINE, Aug. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Ira Peters spent Sunday in Corona. The Messrs. Lester, Harvey and Fay Clark and their mother have been on a camping trip to Fallbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ross and family motored to Santa Ana Friday.

Mrs. R. O. Smith and daughter, Marguerite, spent Thursday in Santa Ana.

Franklin Holbrook of Tustin made a business trip to Irvine Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McDonald and family spent Sunday at Laguna Beach.

Lyle Forney of Tustin visited in Irvine Sunday.

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 29.—Even Harry Welch was content with the comments of the officers of the British world-circling ship "Frontiersman," who yesterday were guests with their shipmates of the Newport Harbor Yacht club on a tour of the proposed harbor and its channel to the sea.

"An expensive job, perhaps. Lots of dredging. Much grief probably, but the opportunity for a harbor of this kind is unsurpassed," they said.

"We have seen artificial harbors built in certain parts of the world where the harbor boosters had to overcome many more obstacles than are here. Newport is far from an artificial harbor site."

From the standpoint of commerce that would be developed here the yacht club's guests were certain that if their rapidly acquired knowledge of Orange county's prosperity was a criterion an Orange county harbor would be an absolute necessity within a few years.

Not all of the British ship's company are expert yachtsmen or past harbor masters, according to their own statement. The company was recruited from all walks of life, though experienced navigators were selected as officers.

Few of them claimed an intimate knowledge of harbor development and those few asserted that considerable study of the situation would be necessary before they gave a definite opinion as to how Orange county's harbor at Newport should be accomplished.

"But you have your experts," they said. "Our opinion can only be that of a casual observer backed by what little knowledge we have or harbor projects."

HIGHLAND PASTOR PLACENTIA VISITOR

PLACENTIA, Aug. 29.—Rev. and Mrs. Campbell Coyle of Highland Park spent a few days last week visiting their sister-in-law, Mrs. R. F. Coyle on Palm Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hayden and Mrs. M. H. Hicks were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blackmer Mrs. Hicks returned last week from an extended trip to Alaska and Yellowstone Park.

Miss Margaret Strain is entertaining guests at her cottage at Laguna a few days this week.

Russell L. Fournier has sold his house on Chapman avenue to Mr. Records, who is a father-in-law to M. M. Sanford. Mr. Sanford has purchased the house next to it.

Thomas Strain spent Sunday at Newport Beach with his daughter, Mrs. A. Puritti, and family, who are spending the summer at their cottage there.

Miss Marjorie Travers returned Saturday from a summer spent at the conference grounds at Asilomar.

There were seventy-five girls employed there during the conference season, each one chosen from colleges in California, Washington, Utah, Arizona or Nevada. Miss Travers was the only one chosen from Fullerton junior college.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McCulloch and son, Lucy Lee, and Mrs. McCulloch's mother, Mrs. M. Montgomery, are planning to leave about September 1st for a two weeks vacation at Newport Beach.

William J. Travers has purchased a lot at Newport Beach and intends to build a summer home there.

Each one who volunteered might be one of those to be left as a store-guard on some lonely island in the cold north waters. Yet the examiners were forced to spend weeks in repeated interviews in order to reduce the total of volunteers to the number desired to man the ship.

The thirty-nine men who finally were selected represent as virile and as physically perfect a company of men as could be gathered in one ship.

Yet these men are working without wages and furthermore each subscribed thousand, two thousand or three thousand dollars for the privilege of joining the expedition.

They come from all walks of life; a world-famous author and adventurer; and ex-cavalry officer; the proprietor of a London steam laundry; a retired business man; a shipper's clerk; a motion picture camera man, who was an aerial photographer; naval officers, with records that include every big naval engagement during the World War and many other minor affairs; an heir to a baronetcy; a second Lord of the Admiralty and other noblemen.

"We're amateur yachtsmen, most of us," declared one who gave up his business which was netting him $100 a week—not bad in London—in order to aid in shoveling seven tons of coal each day into the hungry boilers of the cotton-king's racing yacht.

The vessel was built thirty-eight years ago as a steel-constructed pleasure craft for Coates, whose name is in every home on a cotton-spool.

"Roughing it, well, rather," chorus the crew.

Mrs. Damewood said that the club had complete charge of the arrangements for the supper and dance which was put on by the club members at the Orange county park this week was a most decided success.

Mrs. Damewood stated that in order to clear the title to the lot which the club is purchasing nearly one hundred dollars had to be raised but with the co-operation of the Orange people the amount was more than passed.

The members of the Women's club board had complete charge of the arrangements for the supper and dance and the smoothness with which the program was carried out showed great executive skill.

With the club members contributing the entire meal, supper was served to an estimated one hundred people.

Later a dance was held in the pavilion in which from thirty to forty couples participated. The orchestra was composed chiefly of Anaheim musicians. Miss Mabel Mitchell at the piano; Otis Allen, banjo; Mr. Stillwell, saxophone, and Raymond Arguello of Orange at the drums.

Mrs. Damewood said that the club hopes to be able to have such dances frequently to raise money for the clubhouse fund.

FRONTIERSMEN SHUN HONORS ON VESSELS

Seventy Cents Is Set for Picking Of Anaheim Nuts

ANAHEIM, Aug. 29.—Walnut pickers in the Anaheim district will receive 70 cents a sack, if the recommendation made today by the Anaheim Walnut Growers' association is followed.

At this price the growers must sew the sacks and haul them to the packing house. The packing house will open between September 15 and 20, two weeks earlier than last year, according to Manager Walter Ross. Although an increase in No. 1 nuts has been predicted, it is not probable that the tonnage will exceed that of last year, he said.

Hulls are thicker this year, and there is a heavier growth of nuts on the outside of the trees, while the inner branches have fewer nuts than usual. This condition has led some to believe that there would be a great increase in the crop, Ross explained.

However, one could not help picking up bits of interesting information about that gallant crew who are blazing the way for an air trip around the world. * * *

Take, for instance, Jack Silver. Silver is a young chap who makes the official motion pictures for the outfit. He would make a good Yank, many of his companions think. During the Irish trouble he was the only cinema operator to cover the activities of the Free State campaign and more than once risked his life to get a good "shot."

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Wilkinson. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waite and Vern Wilkinson of Perris were deep sea fishing Sunday.

Vern Wilkinson of Perris is spending a few days with his brother, B. H. Wilkinson and his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Fiscus and family spent Sunday at Brookside Park, Pasadena. They attended a family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Stickney and daughter, Vera, and Thomas McGraw spent Sunday at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

Henry Cauch and Claude Jones of Kansas spent Monday evening with their cousin, Miss Vera Stickney.

Miss Alice Winchell returned Sunday from Newport Beach where she has been visiting her uncle, George Bird and family for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Olmsted and children spent the weekend at Balboa Beach.

Mr. N. Slosson of Los Angeles spent the weekend at the C. S. Taylor home on South Walnut. J. D. Sievers has been appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. C. Sargent of the Breck school board.

Miss Margaret Corbett, who has been spending her vacation at San Diego, returned to her position at the First National Bank, Monday.

Mrs. Lena Carpenter and son motored to Santa Monica and Redondo beaches Sunday.

PICKED MEN GIVEN BERTHS ON CRUISE

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 29.—How the company of the British ship "Frontiersman" was recruited forms an interesting foundation on which the success of the airplane pathfinding expedition was based.

Hundreds of men, members of the world-wide "Legion of Frontiersmen," were interviewed and examined at the London headquarters of the organization. All volunteered to join the hazardous cruise that would lead through Arctic waters.

Each one who volunteered might be one of those to be left as a store-guard on some lonely island in the cold north waters. Yet the examiners were forced to spend weeks in repeated interviews in order to reduce the total of volunteers to the number desired to man the ship.

The thirty-nine men who finally were selected represent as virile and as physically perfect a company of men as could be gathered in one ship.

Yet these men are working without wages and furthermore each subscribed thousand, two thousand or three thousand dollars for the privilege of joining the expedition.

They come from all walks of life; a world-famous author and adventurer; and ex-cavalry officer; the proprietor of a London steam laundry; a retired business man; a shipper's clerk; a motion picture camera man, who was an aerial photographer; naval officers, with records that include every big naval engagement during the World War and many other minor affairs; an heir to a baronetcy; a second Lord of the Admiralty and other noblemen.

"We're amateur yachtsmen, most of us," declared one who gave up his business which was netting him $100 a week—not bad in London—in order to aid in shoveling seven tons of coal each day into the hungry boilers of the cotton-king's racing yacht.

The vessel was built thirty-eight years ago as a steel-constructed pleasure craft for Coates, whose name is in every home on a cotton-spool.

"Roughing it, well, rather," chorus the crew.

MASS MEETING ON BONDS IS ANNOUNCED

Orange Stores To Shut Up Labor Day; Warning Is Given

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—As a customary holiday procedure, local business establishments will close all day Monday, Labor day, it was announced today by William G. Hagen, secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association.

Hagen, in making this public almost a week in advance, had the purpose in view of impressing upon the public the necessity of making advance preparations to span the two-day lapse of business activity in the city.

"It behoves the public to stock the larders on Saturday

so that supplies will last until Tuesday morning when business activities will be resumed," he said.

Social-Personal Notes of Orange

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Angus Dean of Nuevo are in Orange after spending a vacation in Bear Valley.

Dr. and Mrs. George Brandriff are expected from Laguna Beach today.

Miss Florence Pixley returned yesterday after spending the weekend with Stanford friends in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Francis Smith was operated upon Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leech and daughter, Louane, and Miss Polly Lott went to Balboa Island for a two weeks' outing today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Winzir, Ariz., are visiting at the A. R. Smith home.

The teachers of the El Modena schools held a picnic supper at the county park Monday evening. About twenty-five people enjoyed the outing.

J. A. Gray of San Francisco was in Orange yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gunther are the parents of a girl who was born yesterday.

Carl Stuckey, Mrs. Ross Stuckey, and her sister, Mrs. E. B. Dunkeison, and Mrs. George W. Hood are at Catalina Island today.

The Woman's club of Orange has received a cordial invitation to join the members of the Woman's Civic Club of Garden Grove in the dedication of their clubhouse Friday evening, August 31, at eight o'clock. Mrs. L. P. Damewood, has asked all those who wish to attend to telephone 667 not later than Thursday noon so that Garden Grove may prepare this year, although every available room will be full.

Only one vacant room, Mr. Sherwood said, will be available when the fall term opens. It is in the Center street school. A vacant room counted upon in the new Maple avenue school has been turned over for kindergarten purposes as petitioned by residents of that district several months ago.

The Lemon street school is so crowded, Mr. Sherwood explained, that two temporary rooms must be built this year to care for the increase in Mexican children.

The new school building, which logically is to be located in the West Orange district, will represent the last word in modern school construction, it was said.

By constructing the building in such a way as to make future additions possible, the school board is creating a building program for future years without putting the school district to any great additional expense, it was said.

"As the district grows and the need for additional facilities is felt, the needed rooms can be added at a very nominal cost," he said.

That he pointed out, is the reason the West Orange school will have only four rooms at the start, all that is required at present, but with provisions for future expansion.

BELL PRESENTED TO ROTARY CLUB

DINERS AT CLUB HEAR REAL YARNS

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—At the regular meeting of the Orange Rotary club last Thursday, E. H. Smith, Orange jeweler, returned the laugh on his fellow club members when they began to "guy" him about the arrival of twin sons at his home, by presenting the organization with a handsome "Rotary Bell."

Commander Downes, who took part in five naval engagements, including the battle of Jutland, received the most applause when he was called upon. "I am badly shocked," he said. "You have called upon me without warning." Then he told something about the different kings of "yolting."

George Peabody gave the famous definition of the word "realator," which received considerable applause. Dr. Thompson, the American representative of the Frontiersmen, gave a short talk. Two members of the Adventurers club of Los Angeles were also called upon. Then came the cigars and coffee. Later in the evening the "gramophone" was uncorked and the men danced a bit. A special car took them to Los Angeles. Today they are guests at the Thomas Ince studio where several "shots" will be taken by the movie people.

Stands twelve inches high on its padded pedestal, the bell bears, surmounted upon it, the Rotary wheel which has the inscription, "Rotary International," while the reverse side states the club motto, "He Profits Most Who Serves Best."

The bell and gavel were made by Gorham's, one of the largest jewelry manufacturers in the country. President Frank Henderson should have no trouble in the future in calling the members of the Orange Rotary club to order.

$14,000 INVOLVED IN PROPERTY SALE

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—The sale of eleven lots for $14,350 in block three, Laguna Cliffs, for H. G. Heisler, is reported by Roy W. Peacock, realtor, of Laguna Beach. This property is located near the Tent City, on street that is expected to be opened up to the Laguna Canyon road and which will develop into excellent business property.

Five lots amounting to $6850 in cash of the Philbrook Estate in tract 84 and 85 have been sold in the last thirty days.

CHAMBER PLANS NEW SURVEY OF ORANGE

Club Women Deny Accusation Made By Great Actress

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—Considerable excitement has been caused by the recent publishing of the "Love Letters" of Sarah Bernhardt, due to her statements that the American women talk too much.

Club women of Orange who have been interviewed concerning the subject declared that in their opinion the average American does not talk one bit more than mere man. They do not deny, however, that the American talks more than is necessary.

One Orange club woman declared that she knew a man who could talk indefinitely on a subject and still not say anything. A man's scarcity of words is bunk, she asserted.

REDONDO MAIDENS GO FOR "VACATION"

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—The white-capped breakers at Redondo Beach acted as a lure for two little bobbed-haired girls, inmates of the children's home at Arlington, it was learned here today. Unable to resist the temptation to spend the past few years. For instance W. A. White, city clerk, informs the chamber that licenses are being collected from nearly 300 different sources, which means that there are many different lines of activity being pursued within the city limits.

In order that this survey may be made with the least possible effort and delay, the chamber will send out letters enclosing postal cards with blanks for the return information, and the secretary asks that all replies be made as soon as conveniently can be done.

CITY CLERK MAKES REPORT COMMENT

ORANGE, Aug. 29.—In connection with the annual report of the city clerk, just published here, W. A. White has prepared the following comment for The Register:

The law requires that the annual report of the financial transactions of the city shall be published. Rather than publish the report in the usual legal form it would seem better that it be given more prominence, hence we have taken space and are publishing it in display advertising form.

The city having nothing in the shape of wares to sell our opportunity for display advertising is very much limited, so once each year we will tell you in this form what we will be able to do.

In the presence of only a few intimate friends Miss Oma Lucile Dyer became the bride of Wayne Mehaffey of San Diego at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Newland in San Diego, August 25. The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Newland.

The delicately beautiful blonde coloring of the bride was enhanced by the dark canton traveling dress that she wore in readiness for the wedding journey, on which the couple left immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Mehaffey has made her home in Orange for the past five years and attended high school here. Mr. Mehaffey is in the aviation service and is stationed at North Island, San Diego. They will be at home after September 15 at 1555 Eighth street, San Diego.

The report sets forth in a detailed way the amount of money received, the source from whence it comes, the funds to which it is apportioned, and the manner and to what purpose it is disbursed. It is the wish of the city administration that each stockholder in this corporation study the report familiarize yourselves with it if it is not clear ask questions about it, criticize it if it don't please you tell us, if it does please tell others.

EVENING SALUTATION

Friendship improves happiness and abates misery, by doubling our joy and dividing our grief.—Addison.

WHAT IS TRUE ECONOMY?

It is almost trite, but nevertheless eternally true, to say that true economy consists in getting the most for your money. Or, to put it another way, to say that true economy is the art or science of getting the best value for your dollar. Or, in a form, to say that true economy is a kind of statesmanship which insists on securing the greatest good to the greatest number, at whatever initial or primary cost, seninely and superciliously regardless of unfair and deceptive criticism, or even the sincere short-sightedness which would hold a penny so close to the eye as to obscure the dollar in the distance; and utterly contemptuous of that greed of gain which would crucify honest and courageous public servants on the cross of crass credulity.

Fortunately, however, and quite over and above the power of conception of carpenter critics—themselves often the last word in credulity—the large majority of the people are not crassly credulous, or at all credulous. They see clearly—and it is to laugh!

* * * *

For examples we have not far to seek. Newspaper reports have it that three members of the Board of City Trustees favor a park site in the northern part of the city, at a cost of $130,000, in preference to the old race track in the southwestern section, at a cost of $30,000. And immediately comes the uninformed, ill-considered and wholly unfair cry of extravagance extraordinary! As though it isn't plain as a pikestaff that one piece of land may easily be a better bargain as a park site at $130,000 than another at $30,000! The First National Bank is building a new banking house at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, on a site that probably represents an investment—on the basis of what it would sell for plus the value of the building that was wrecked to clear the site—of $200,000. The bank could have purchased a site of the same size or larger for one-tenth, one-twentieth that amount. But the site at Fourth and Main, for banking purposes, was a better bargain at $200,000 than one at Delhi, for instance, at two dollars—or at two bits, for that matter. As with bank sites, so with park sites.

* * * *

(Parenthetically it may be stated that at this writing the Editor of the Register does not know where or what or how large or small the suggested park site in the northern part of the city is, and this paper at this time is not supporting or opposing any park site.)

Another case in point is the city advertising contract which has been before the City Trustees at their last two meetings. Deeming it to be their duty to transact the city business just as they would—and as they do—their own, the four members present at last Monday night's meeting unanimously voted to award the contract to the newspaper that would give the most and best service for the least money.

The law provides that certain notices, ordinances, resolutions of intention, etc., shall be published, in order that citizens, voters, taxpayers and the public generally shall be given information concerning proceedings affecting their property interests and their rights of citizenship. The Trustees had official documentary evidence on file, of unquestionable verity, showing that the paper to which they awarded the contract would carry this information into over 4100 homes IN THE CITY OF SANTA ANA at a cost of 1.4 cents (per inch) per hundred homes, and that the competing newspaper would carry it into only 1200 (almost) homes IN THE CITY OF SANTA ANA at a cost of 3.3 cents (per inch) per hundred homes. Desiring to secure for the taxpayers the largest and best service for the least money, the Trustees awarded the contract for city advertising to the "lowest and best bidder", which is the universal commercial custom, based on unassailable economic law and logic.

Because "40 cents per inch" looks like it is less than "60 cents per inch" (although as a relative rate for city advertising it is nearly 300 per cent higher per hundred of city circulation), unfriendly and unfair criticism comes fast and furiously about extravagance and waste of public funds.

According to this line of logic, if Santa Ana had a paper of only one page with only a hundred subscribers and it should bid one cent an inch less than a first class newspaper with over 9000 circulation, the City Trustees would be extravagant if they did not award the city advertising to the one-page 100-circulation sheet, although it would give practically no service whatever.

* * * *

The entire situation in relation to the city advertising contract may be stated briefly as follows: Voters demand of public officials that they transact public business with a care and concern equal to the care and concern they use in their own business. The highest praise, from the taxpayers point of view, of an official is to say that a public official "conducts public business just as he would his own business."

Santa Ana's City Trustees are endeavoring to give to public business the same careful and conscientious consideration that they would to their own. That is why they voted to award the contract for city advertising to the newspaper offering the largest and best service for the money.

The only purpose of having ordinances, resolutions of intention, calls for bids, etc., published is that the voters of the city shall know what the City Trustees are doing. If publicity is desirable and required by law, the law that requires the publicity ought not stand in the way of giving adequate publicity.

And if it does stand in the way, the law ought to be changed.

BE RIGHT AND SAFE

Under the new state law it behoves every automobile driver to watch his driving at intersections. The careful driver, of course, needs no admonition.

Naturally, he does the thing that brings the minimum of risk. If he keeps his car under control—that is, if he is driving at such a rate of speed that he can stop within a foot or two or three—he will not likely be the cause of a collision. If he drives so fast that he cannot stop quickly, he invites disaster.

But the new law has complicated the right-of-way question. It gives the vehicle approaching from the right the right of way. That is the right-of-way we have been recognizing for some years. The new state law has a provision, as was explained to the Rotary club yesterday by Attorney Alvin Kelso of Los Angeles, representing the Automobile Club of Southern California, by which the car that gets on to an intersection first has the right of way. That means that the car coming from the left may have the legal right of way.

The whole question, then, comes down to one of facts at the intersection. If the two cars reach the intersection at an exact moment, together, the car to the right has the right to pass first. When there is a collision, the fact that must be determined in order to determine culpability is the fact as to which car was on the intersection first.

But the important thing in meeting at intersections is to have your car going at such speed that you can stop instantly. And, observe the unwritten rule of the road, "Look out for the fool." The fool will not be informed of the intricacies of the question of right-of-way. He will bump you if you don't watch out. If he hits you, you want to have the law on your side, and for that reason make sure that you are right, then go ahead. That is, make sure that you are RIGHT AND SAFE, then go ahead.

An Interesting Decision

San Francisco Chronicle.

In this state the wife is half owner of the community property in fee. By a law which is now in force, having failed to be referred to the people, she may, upon death of the husband, exercise all rights of an owner in fee, which it is feared may cause a lot of trouble. And if she can exercise that right as a widow she can logically do the same as a wife.

The State Supreme Court has just decided that upon the death of the husband the wife shall pay no inheritance tax on her part of the husband's estate. This seems reasonable, since it is all the time her own property. But it is precisely opposite to the views of the collectors of internal revenue. The case just decided is a State case, but it is stated that, according to its custom, the Supreme Court of the United States will follow the local decision in Federal cases arising within this State.

In the Federal case the issue is apparently the right of the wife to make a separate income tax return on her part of the community property. The Internal Revenue office considers that a vile practice, because by dividing the community income it reduces the amount of the surtax. However, it is apparently to be the law in California, which by so much increases the desirability of this State as a residence for rich married women. For husbands—who are as much pleased as wives to have income taxes of both parties reduced—there is the sobering factor that wives may butt in in respect to the management of the property in which they are half owners in ways that will seem shocking to old-time husbands. But logic is logic.

Truth In Advertising

Stockton Independent.

The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World are going to spend $121,000 this year on a campaign to secure advertising sincerity. They say they are going to work at more strict and careful enforcement of advertising laws now existing, and to urge such legislation where it is lacking. They have praised the federal and local authorities for aid given in the past year to prevent fraud in advertising, and have made an especial point of commanding the Postmaster General for the work of the mail department in keeping mails free from fraudulent ads.

The advertising fraternity and the merchants and manufacturers they represent have come a long way from the old "Caveat Emptor" days. They know that sound business can be built only on honest dealing in every particular. Every effort is made by the producers to turn out honest goods, and by the advertisers to speak of them in such a manner that the reader and buyer can rely absolutely on the printed word.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

AFTER VACATION—WHAT?

You are back from vacation and have started the routine of work again.

You say that you have "lost" so much time that you'll have to get down to steady work and make it up.

Did it ever occur to you that such an idea is really foolish?

You have been in the great outdoors. You have accustomed your heart and lungs to the rare air and sunshine that has rejuvenated your whole being. You have been feeling unusually well.

Back from this you come, and breathe the close stuffy air of the indoors. You find, the first few nights after returning, that you can hardly breathe, as the house seems so close.

Now why did you feel so good during the vacation?

Why did even the canned goods you were forced to eat seem like a real treat?

Why did you sleep so soundly that you were often a bit late for breakfast?

All just because of the outdoor air.

You see you take so many ounces of air into your tissues every day in order to burn 'em up these tissues. It is this burning up of your tissues that manufactures the heat to keep all parts of your body alive. That is, your various juices with their various purposes, and the maintenance of the tissues themselves.

Further, this air burned up your waste products for you, and that is the reason you feel so well. The outdoor air, because of its purity, makes a better job of burning up the waste.

So when you come back to your indoor work—all day inside—and then to bed again—indoors, the wastes that should be burned up by exercise and by the outside air, remain as wastes in the body.

Do you wonder that you feel "stuffy" and that the room feels "stuffy"?

Simply that you should not consider vacation as time lost, and try to make it up by extra work.

Further, that you should remember what the outdoor air did for you, and do your best to get some of it every day combined with exercise, like walking.

And still further, to keep your bedroom windows open and thus during the night, the outside air may come in and bless you, by removing some of the wastes of the body.

These wastes are really poisons and should not be retained.

"Go Where Yo' Gwine"

Wicks Warnbott

The other day a man dropped a five dollar gold piece into the contribution box thinking it was a quarter. After church he went to one of the deacons and asked for a refund. The deacon laughed. "Get out of here," he said. "We don't repay anybody from the collection plate. You think you are going to get credit for dropping five dollars into the contribution box and then get a raffle-off of four dollars and 75 cents. Nothing doing."

"All right," said the parishioner, as he walked away. "I'll get credit for it in heaven."

"No you won't," called the deacon after him. "You will get credit for 25 cents."

Probably the deacon's statement was true. The man had actually given five dollars but he had not wanted to. He had wanted to give but a quarter. If the spirit of the act is to be considered and not the act itself then the recording angel put down 25 cents in the right-hand column of this particular man's account.

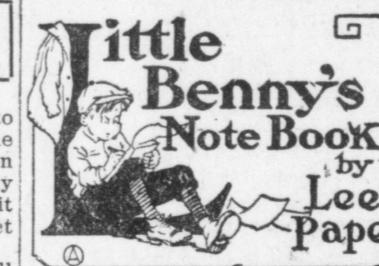

I recently witnessed a lawsuit against an insurance company. The insured had policies in two companies. One paid its claim cheerfully and promptly. The other tried by hook and crook to get out of paying but was forced to do so by the law. One company was given full moral credit by the beneficiary for every cent that was paid. The other company had to pay just the same but received no commendation and the money was received with a vindictive snicker.

I saw a contribution reported at a large banquet for a Red Cross war fund. The signed pledge cards were passed up to the chairman who read them aloud. When he came to one particular card he looked at it intently and hesitated then he said loudly and crisply, "Here is a pledge for only $25 from Mr. X. We will not accept such a small donation for such a large and vital cause from a man with the giving power of Mr. X." He deliberately tore the card to bits and let them flutter to the floor. Later Mr. X. sent in another pledge card for $250. This was accepted with a grim smile, but ethically Mr. X. got credit for but $25. The campaign committee gave the chairman credit for the other two hundred and twenty-five dollars.

If you are going to do a thing do it in the first place and don't wait to be hammered into it and thus lose all the credit and all the satisfaction. If your wife needs a new spring hat and you know she needs it and you know right well she is going to have it, why haggle and fuss about it? Give it to her and go on out and earn the money to pay for it and then you will feel a sense of having done the generous thing and she won't be sorry she married you.

When a thing is presented to you for consideration, decide what you ought to do. Be generous in your decision—generous according to your particular situation. Then do it and be done with it.

As old Doc Singleterry says, "Go whar you gwine."

Sattday pop came home with a hole armful of packages and things, ma saying, My goodness, Willyum, are you going to open a store?

I'm going to develop my own films, thanks for your intrist, pop sed, and ma sed, O dear, ware?

The bath room is the logical place, I suppose, pop sed, and ma sed, O dear, my nice clean bath room.

Wats the matter with it? pop sed, and ma sed, Nuthing now, but O dear.

And Sunday morning pop took some pictures of the family and after dinner he went in the bath room with all his packages and pulled down the shade and locked the door, me saying, Can I come in and watch you, pop?

No, you can't stay out and wait for me, pop sed. And pretty soon ma came up stairs saying, Well thank heavens the Hewses arent coming after all and I can take a bath this afternoon, and pop sed, and I sed, No you can either ma, pops locked up in the bath room developing pictures.

O dear, ma sed. And she knocked on the door saying, Willyum I'd very much like to take a bath this afternoon, and pop sed, Well dont let me stop you, and ma sed, Well thots jest wat your doing, and pop sed, Not at all, I expect to be out of hear in 20 minnits.

Ony being wat he expected because he didnt come out for about 2 more hours and he spent the rest of the time before supper trying to get the developing stuff off of his hands and face and ma spent it trying to get it off of the bath tub and the bath room floor, neither of them getting much off, and pop hasn't showed anybody the pictures yet on account of none of them properly coming out rite.

IN THE LONG AGO

From the Register Files
14 Years Ago Today

AUGUST 29, 1909.

The new state law giving a high school district compensation for teaching pupils who live outside the district is in effect now. County School Superintendent R. P. Mitchell has mailed to each high school superintendent in the county a request for the attendance of outsiders last year.

Dr. G. H. Dobson, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, was on the street today getting signatures to the petition for a county good roads bond issue. He says everybody is signing.

Died, at El Modena, D. J. Bartley, aged 72 years.

This was the hottest day Santa Ana has had in a long while. The thermometer got to 101 and mighty close to 102. It felt like more than that.

Attachments have been issued to cover what little property there is at Huntington Beach belonging to Eugene Rubio, who came to the beach and said he was a grand old chum of Harriman, Morgan and other kings of coin.

County Clerk W. B. Williams has received a petition asking that the county extend Collins avenue, north of Orange, west across the Santa Ana river.

Small men are making hay. One shouts a song. Forking up the browned grass, trailing and long.
